Marriage a School
Sam and the Latin
Marriage or Trousers?
50 is Young

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1928, by Star Co.

DR. M. S. TAYLOR wires from Chicago: "Contribute your opinion on legalizing companionate marriage. I am to debate with Judge Lindsey in Orchestral Hall, Clarence Darrow presiding."

That question was settled when Eve appeared from Adam's rib.

Woman is naturally monogamous, is determined to make man so, will do it eventually, and marriage is the school of monogamy.

A companionate marriage expresses doubt, proves lack of the confidence on which marriage should be based, and while it is perfectly legal now, divorce being legal, it is a poor cold blooded sort of marriage.

Fortunately, the average young couple have no doubts whatever, and only regret the marriage cannot last a million years, just to prove it.

Some times they are disappointed, nearly always through the husband's fault, but meanwhile, the children have been born, blessed with the influence of trust and affection.

The value of a man depends on the respect of his father and his mother for each other.

If husband and wife start marriage in doubt, each leaving the door open for escape, the children's inferiority will reflect their parents' "I may decide to quit" marriage.

The important thing in marriage is the quality of the children, and the next generation.

The Latin races, conferring in Havana decide that the right to revolt should not be taken from any people.

Revolution underlies nearly all governments on these American continents, including our own. It would be foolish to suggest that all good revolutions have occurred, and that all, hereafter, must be bad.

Mexico's government, facing a religious revolution, started the discussion, suggesting that any part held by revolutionists should be isolated, outside Nations keeping away from it. A Cuban representative objected, upholding the right of any people to rebel, and other delegates supported his view.

Uncle Sam, a sort of Gulliver among Lilliputians, feels like a fish out of water at the conference. His neighbors are smaller, not so rich, in some cases envious and hostile. He cannot

U. S. Submarine 'Lost' On Training Trip

SISTER SHIP OF S-4 MISSING OFF ATLANTIC COAST

Fears of another naval tragedy were felt today when word was flashed ashore that the submarine S-3, en route to the training grounds on the Cuban coast, has been missing at sea since Saturday. Search of her is being made by naval craft and airplanes. There are 41 officers and men aboard the sub—a sister ship of the S-4 lost a few weeks ago. This photo of S-3 was taken while boat was in Provincetown waters.

SISTER SHIP OF LOST S4 IS MISSING AT SEA WITH CREW OF 41 ON BOARD

Washington, Jan. 30 (A.P.)—The submarine S3, sister ship of the S4, has been separated from the submarine control fore en route from Hampton Roads, Va., to Guantanamo, Cuba, and has not been heard from since last Saturday.

The Navy Department was informed today that the S3 was lost from the rest of the force at sunset Saturday about 100 miles suth of Cape Hatteras and had not communicated with any one up to 2 o'clock this morning.

Several naval boats in the fleet are seeking trace of her.

The ship, commanded by Lieutenant P. W. Warren, of Springfield, Pa., disappeared from view of the other vessels during a rain squall and a heavy gale.

Although some apprehension was felt, it was said at the department that disappearances of this kind are not unusual and generally the vessels later turn up all right.

Narrowly missing houses, trees and telephone poles, the Boston-New York mail plane made a forced landing on the Lutz Anderson estate in Brookline today and was wrecked, crashing through a six-foot wire fence.

Clifton P. Oleson, the pilot and only occupant, was uninjured.

Oleson was making the hop from Hartford, Ct., to the Boston airport with several sacks of mail. Through a raw, cold atmosphere that produced great visibility he made fast

SOMERVILLE CHILDREN THREATENED, GUARDED

With the entire police department of Somerville on the alert, a veritable reign of terror existed in at least three families in that city today, as a result of telephone threats to do injury to their children.

Belief that the two are together was considerably strengthened by two notes received by the parents of the girl and the wife of the missing minister. Both notes were typewritten and unsigned. One stated simply that the girl was going and where the girl resides.

In one case, the only one reported to the police, the child in question, six-year-old Betty McArdle of Kidder avenue, West Somerville, was in hiding, while the others were being carefully guarded.

Mrs. Harriett C. McArdle, wife of

MRS. SMITH BELIEVES HER DAUGHTER ALIVE

By BERT FORD.

Northampton, Jan. 30.—"I am confident my daughter is alive."

Mrs. St. John Smith, mother of the missing Smith College student, made that statement today just before she left for her New York home accompanied by her husband.

Whether it was merely an expression of mother-hope which is slow to die, or whether it was based upon some new clue to the disappearance of Frances St. John Smith could not be learned.

St. John Smith and his wife, who have not left this city since their arrival to lead the search for their daughter, missing now 17 days, entrained for home this afternoon.

SISTER SHIP OF LOST S4 MISSING AT SEA SINCE SATURDAY

CRAFT HAS 41 MEN ABOARD

On board are three other officers, four chief petty officers and thirty-three men. The officers are Lieutenants W. F. Weddner, Charles B. Garvin and Jose A. Calambuhe.

Search for the missing sub is being aided by planes sent out from the new airplane carrier, U. S. S. Saratoga. These planes are scouting over a radius of 150 miles.

The S3 was built in 1919 at the Portsmouth, N. H. Navy Yard and is 231 feet long with a beam of 22 feet. Her weight is 876 tons on the surface and 1,092 tons submerged.

The exact position of the vessel when the S3 was lost from view was given at latitude 3223 north and longitude 7523 west.

Other submarines in the force, all of which are aiding in the search, are the S7, S8, S9, S10, S11 and S12.

The water where the S3 is missing is reported to be almost two miles deep.

The control force left its Hampton Roads base Friday for Guantanamo to participate in Winter maneuvers.

Rear Admiral Brumby, who was in charge of the rescue operations at the scene of the S4 disaster off Provincetown, Mass., is in command of the force and the message informing the department that the S3 was missing came from him aboard the Camden, flagship of the force.

In announcing the fact that the ship was missing, the department said the search was being made "on account of the failure of communication between the missing submarine and the other vessels of the group."

"This is not unusual for small vessels during bad weather conditions, which are existing," the department added.

The S3 is equipped with an under water sounding oscillator and a radio transmitting and receiving set similar to that of the S4. The tower for the set is available under ordinary conditions from either the storage batteries or the generator. The ship carries no emergency set.

Submarine officers here said that in all probability the antennae was washed away during the storm as has often been done under similar conditions.

The ominous note was expressed that the submarine's silence and the lost contact with the other vessels preceded as fast as the could toward her destination.

New York, Jan. 30 (A.P.).—No word had been received today of the Norwegian freighter Linda, which sent out an SOS signal from about 85 miles off Cape May yesterday afternoon, reporting itself out of control and in need of immediate assistance.

Naval Base Sure Missing
S3 Turns Up Safely

New London, Ct., Jan. 30 (A.P.).—To substantiate their feeling that the S3 will be found before long safe on the surface, officials at the submarine base here pointed out a previous instance in which the S3 was "lost" for two days in 1921 while with a fleet of submarines en route from San Francisco to Honolulu.

At that time the S3 became separated from the tender Rainbow in bad weather. The Rainbow searched for two days before finding the submarine, and had not otherwise done the works for her experience.

It was also pointed out it is not uncommon or unusual for the engines to break down on long cruises and it is felt such is the case with the S3. "There have been hundreds of similar cases in submarine history," declared one official, who has seen much submarine service.

MOTHER OF LOST GIRL GOES HOME

From New York they will carry on the hunt, their counsel, Major Thomas J. Hammond, announced.

Before leaving for his home St. John Smith issued the following statement:

"Mrs. Smith and I wish to express through the kindness of the press our gratitude for the sympathy of every kind which we receive increasingly from all directions. The faith and infinite kindness and the quick and varied resourcefulness so generally offered by everyone, from those in authority to many who do not even signs their names, add to our hope and touch us deeply."

A few hours before they departed, Major Stanley Washburn, war correspondent, author and explorer, arrived for a conference with the parents. The two are lifelong friends, and Major Washburn has been handling the New York angle of the investigation.

Major Washburn's daughter, Fan wan, is a senior at Smith College and was acquainted with the lost heiress.

Mrs. Smith's statement, that she was confident Frances was alive, was made to Rev. Arthur Lee Kinsolving, rector of the Amherst Episcopal church which members of the Smith family attend during the vacation months they spend at South Amherst.

It followed a conference between members of the family, Major Washburn and Major Hammond. Major Washburn's arrival and the fact that the conferees were in communication with President William Allen Neilson of the college gave rise to the belief that some new clew had been uncovered.

While of the two theories still retained, one holds Miss Smith a runaway as a result of mental depression, the hope that the girl is still alive is almost exclusively held here by her family.

State Detective Joseph V. Daly has not changed his original belief that she is a suicide. College authorities, while no official statement has been made, believe the same. The entire student body is likewise inclined to view the girl's 17 days absence from her studies in the light of self-destruction.

A check-up of every single clue has failed to disclose any as pending and the feeling prevails that Miss Smith, like Alice Corbett, who vanished from the college more than two years ago, will never be found.

The swift-running Connecticut below the Hadley bridge, where many hold the girl would have sought her death if she was determined to destroy herself, offers now no opportunity for dredging. As a result of the storm and cold spell the waters are filled with great ice cakes that menace small boats venturing out.

Present plans still include the use of an airplane in the search for her today if the weather permits of taking off, but great sections of the river and all of the ponds are now frozen over, whereas a few days ago there were miles of open water.

Charges State Has Neglected Bunker Hill Monument

Charges that the State has neglected Bunker Hill Monument, mecca for thousands of tourists from all over the country, were made today at a hearing before the legislative committee on metropolitan affairs by Representative Charles S. Sullivan, Jr., of Charlestown.

The representative asked that $50,000 be appropriated to repair the grounds and walks.

suffering from third degree burns over his entire body, where he died a few hours later.

The story of the blast may never be told as Pierce and Chase were the only ones in the building. Aluminum and barium, used in the manufacture of the "sparklers," was stored there in large quantities.

Fate played a hand in saving the life of Michael Hurley, 32, of Rockland, who left the building but a minute before the blast. Officials of the company said that Hurley was regularly employed there—in building No. 140.

A theory that an explosion of aluminum dust, sometimes caused by spontaneous combustion or a spark when a tool is dropped, was advanced as the cause.

Soon after the plant opened for the day the grounds rocked and the small building crumpled.

The plant fire department extinguished the blaze that followed before help called from outside reached the scene. Damage was estimated at $500.

The accident marked the third in the same number of working days at the plant. Friday Joseph Zolosky was taken to the Godfrey Hospital, Brockton, suffering from first degree burns when powder exploded and flared up into his face. The following day a rubber fire was discovered near one of the 150 small one-storied buildings that caused another scare.

PHONE THREATS TO HARM TOTS

James E. McArdle, reported to the police that a man whom from his voice she believed to be middle aged, had telephoned her:

"If you don't get out of the city in six days, your Betty will be blinded!"

The connection was broken at that point, and Mrs. McArdle, terror stricken, notified Captain Ernest Howard of the Somerville police. An investigation was begun through the telephone company, which revealed that at least two similar threats had been made to other families, one of them that of a prominent lawyer.

Captain Howard instructed Mr. and Mrs. McArdle to keep careful watch over the little girl, whose name is Harriet, the same as her mother's, and who is known as Betty. The parents decided to take no chances and today Betty was hiding instead of attending the Martha Perry Lowe School on Morrison avenue.

Captain Howard sent out an alarm to all officers of the department, with particular instructions to watch over children going to and coming from school.

Mrs. McArdle told the police that Betty is her child by a previous marriage.

away, the other that Holmes had been called out of town.

Mrs. Holmes who has a batch of letters written to her husband by Miss Debutlye, according to information given to the police, today charged her husband with desertion and announced she was leaving for Boston to join relatives.

Holmes was assistant pastor of the First Baptist Church in Paterson for about a year. Following trouble with some of the younger members of the congregation, he resigned. He joined the Broadway Baptist Church in an unofficial capacity and Miss DeLutye, who had been in the First Baptist Church choir, made the same transfer.

The missing girl was employed until Thursday in a Paterson textile mill. Her parents live in Fairlawn, N. J. Holmes recently made a bid for new employment when the pastor of the First Baptist Church resigned. He was permitted to preach from the pulpit there only a week ago as a test of his ability.

Holmes, who is forty-five, was last seen with the missing girl at the railroad in Paterson according to information given police by Mrs. Holmes.

The missing minister went to Paterson from Boston two years after he'd held a pastorate in western Massachusetts, followed by study in Texas and in this city. His wife was associated with him in his religious work wherever his duties took him.

THREE WOMEN FLEE IN EAST BOSTON FIRE

Flames that firemen battled for three hours today drove three women occupants from the three-story wooden house at No. 210 Bremen street, East Boston, and caused damage estimated at $2,500. The fire started from an overheated furnace and rapidly spread through the house to the roof. Firemen were called on a still alarm but District Chief Flynn ordered a box alarm sounded for more aid. The women who fled were Mrs. Joseph Manella, wife of the owner, Mrs. Filippo Ciecorelli and Mrs. Albert Pantone.

The laying out by the Metropolitan District Commission of a section of road in Brookline to connect with the West Roxbury boulevard at the junction of Newton and Hammond streets was urged by Chairman Henry J. Haverstock of the metropolitan planning division and a group of Brookline officials at a hearing today before the legislative committee on metropolitan affairs. The committee was also visited by members of the Metropolitan Driving Club in favor of a bill calling for the construction of a new boulevard parallel with the Charles River in the Brighton district.

SOUTH FLORIDA TRUCK CROPS KILLED BY COLD

Miami, Fla., Jan. 30 (A.P.).—Four two-thirds to all of many tender growing truck crops in South Florida were injected to have been killed Saturday and Sunday by the lowest temperatures in this section in two years.

Damage to crops in Dade County was estimated at $750,000. Tomatoes in the Redlands district south of Miami suffered heavy losses. On the west coast telling frost extended as far south as St. Petersburg and Tampa, but little damage to truck crops was reported.

HUB MAIL FLIER CASH BOX FULL, TAX CUT DUE

A reduction in the tax rate for next year was forecast today when Mayor Nichols' administration officially closed the city's 1927 books with a showing of a cash surplus of $1,701,754.79.

The surplus can be applied to this year's expenses and the tax levy pared down. The $23 rate will be favorably affected when the new figure is announced next Summer.

The state's portion of [illegible] of $528,552 of overlay on state income was the largest single factor in the surplus. Mayor Nichols said. Increased from unexpected appropriations for city departments, County officers, District Attorney W. J. Foley in particular, conducted their departments under appropriations.

The city's borrowing power for this year will be $7,252,991.

'BOSSY' GILLIS IN BATTLE OF WITS WITH N. Y. MAYOR

STARS ARRIVE TO ENTHRALL HUB MUSIC LOVERS

OPERA'S BLACK EYES AND CARUSO SUCCESSOR HERE

WALKER SCORES HEAVILY AS CLASH OPENS

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN,
International News Correspondent.

New York, Jan. 30.—Andrew J. "Bossy" Gillis, the hard-boiled, wise-cracking mayor of Newburyport, crossed wits with Mayor Jimmy Walker of New York city this afternoon, and Jimmy stepped Andy cold.

After they had shaken hands in City Hall, within 40 reporters straining their ears to catch the repartee, "Bossy" said:

"This morning after I got up I was taking a bath—"

"Now I know why you came to New York," grinned Walker.

The spectators roared.

"Score one for New York," retorted Gillis.

That hot shot from Walker hit "Bossy" right on the "button." He seemed dazed and scratched his red-flushed head.

"Where's Grover Whalen?" blurted "Bossy." Whalen is the gentleman who wears tall silk hats and officially welcomes visitors to New York for the Mayor.

"We only have Grover for strangers," replied Walker. "You are one of our own."

Gillis smiled and recovered his poise. He began, in his purposeful way, to tell the Mayor how he had been elected chief executive of Newburyport. It seems the former Mayor wanted to stop "Bossy" from putting up a gasoline station—"and I worked him one."

MOTHER TUCKS MARSHALL IN HUB BED

Life is all fun to Charles Marshall, but it is largely hard work for Cyrena Van Gordon now in Boston!

All of which make neat links to suspect that Marshall gets his fun by planting the black eyes on his beautiful rooter in "La Gioconda." This is not the case.

The reason that Miss Van Gordon ordered raw meats and fresh eggs sent to her luxurious apartment at the Ritz-Carlton immediately upon her arrival with the Chicago Civic Opera Thursday today is because she unfortunately sustained a black eye in her fall to the floor in the last act of "Aida" last year and another the year before on a cab door. Now she comes prepared, although she refuses now to take the tumble in the opera which lets the swollen optic for the whole spring last season.

HE'S FROM MAINE.

"How I hate colonies," Miss Van Gordon sighed, asking them off the moment she got indoors. "I thought they would be a comfy nest! I got them on—and these are my first and last experience with those things."

Marshall standing by, smiled a little more if that were possible. He is the lad from Maine—the same who rebelled at being a shoe salesman and became instead a "second Caruso," hailed as the greatest living tenor today and not a bit swelled head because of adulation from the great.

He is just Charlie to everyone who knows him—he is few who can smile away not only his own troubles but those of all with whom he comes in

FIVE CHILDREN, TWO MOTHERS, SAVED AT FIRE

A mother and two babies were taken down a ladder by firemen today and another mother and three children were rescued, when flames swept through the three-story brick tenement at No. 32 Beacon street, Chelsea.

Dense smoke trapped Mrs. Mary A. Quirk, boy ten-months-old baby, Mary, and her boy, Alfred, three and a half years old, on the top floor. Firemen mounted the ladder to the third floor windows and scores of watchers below saw the little boy lift his baby sister over the sill to place her in the arms of Fireman James Morrison.

The two children and their mother were then passed down to the ground by a chain of firemen on the ladder. Lieutenant Edward Sullivan, Patrick Culhane, Arthur Chapman and Walter Miller participated in the rescue.

On the second floor Mrs. Margaret Varricci was giving breakfast to three of her five children when she discovered the flames, which had eaten their way up from the basement and through the unoccupied first story.

Mrs. Varricci's husband and a friend, Valentine Nista, who happened to be passing near the house, heard her screams for help and rushed to the rescue. Nista carried out two children, while Varricci carried the third and assisted his wife. The front stairs were blocked by flames, but they got out by the rear.

When firemen arrived, Mrs. Quirk was at the third floor windows, calling for help, having tried to follow the other family out, only to find escape cut off.

The burned block is in the heart of a thickly settled district and the fire caused much excitement. The cause was undetermined.

YOUTH IS HELD AS SLAYER OF GOODMAN

Walter V. Forbes, 24, of Dorchester, was held without bail for hearing next month, when he appeared before Judge Joseph M. Palmer in Roxbury District Court today charged with the murder of David Goodman, wealthy realty dealer of Brookline.

Ira Joy, Forbes' friend and janitor of the Homeyard street apartment house, in the house in the basement of which Goodman's body was found last Tuesday night, was held in $500 as a material witness in the case.

Forbes did not plead when he appeared in court today. At the request of the police, the hearing was continued until February 10. Timothy A. Callanan, former assistant district attorney, appeared for the defendant.

The Grand Jury convening in Suffolk County next Monday may be given the case before the hearing in the lower court.

Forbes was arrested at the home of a young woman in Brighton on Saturday night after Special Officers Frank Riley and Joseph Haggerty of the Back Bay station had again questioned him.

Though at first denying he was responsible for Goodman's death, police allege that Forbes finally confessed to Superintendent of Police Michael H. Crowley that he struck Goodman twice on the face after the latter had pushed him violently during a quarrel, and that he dragged the elderly real estate owner's unconscious form to the coal bin where he deposited it.

The alleged confession was made after hours of grilling by police, District Attorney Foley and Assistant District Attorney William H. McDonnell and came only after Forbes had spent a night in the Back Bay police station.

The S3 was built in 1918 at the Portsmouth, N. H., Navy Yard and is 231 feet long with a beam of 22 feet. Her weight is 876 tons on the surface and 1,092 tons submerged.

The exact location of the vessel when the S3 was lost from view was given at latitude 32.25 north and longitude 75.25 west.

Other [illegible] in the force, all of which are scouting in the search, are the S5, S6, S9, S10, S11 and S12.

The water where the S3 is missing is reported to be almost two miles deep.

The control force left its Hampton Roads base Friday for Guantanamo to participate in Winter maneuvers.

Rear Admiral Brumby, who was in charge of the rescue operations at the scene of the S4 disaster off Provincetown, Mass., is in command of the force and the message informing the department that the S2 was missing came from him aboard the Camden, flagship of the force.

In announcing the fact that the ship was missing, the department said the search was being made "on account of the failure of communication between the missing submarine and the other vessels of the group."

"This is not unusual for small vessels during bad weather conditions, which are existing," the department added.

The S3 is equipped with an underwater sounding oscillator and a radio transmitting and receiving set similar to that of the S4. The power for the set is available under ordinary conditions from either the storage batteries or the generator. The ship carries no emergency set.

Submarine officers have said that in all probability the antennae was washed away during the storm as has often been done under similar conditions.

The opinion also was expressed that the submarine herself as also lost contact with the other vessels proceded as fast as she could toward her destination.

New York, Jan. 30 (A.P.).—No word had been received today of the Norwegian freighter Arica, which sent out an SOS signal from about 80 miles off Cape May yesterday afternoon, reporting itself out of control and in need of immediate assistance.

Naval Base Sure Missing S3 Turns Up Safely

New London, Ct., Jan. 30 (A.P.).—To substantiate their feeling that the S3 will be found before long safe on the surface, officials at the submarine base here pointed out a previous instance in which the S3 was "lost" for two days in 1921 while with a fleet of submarines en route from San Francisco to Honolulu.

At that time the S3 became separated from the tender Rainbow in bad weather. The Rainbow searched for two days before finding the unsinkable destroyer, but otherwise none the worse for her experience.

It was also pointed out it is not uncommon or unusual for the engines to break down on long runs and it is felt such is the case with the S3. "There have been hundreds of similar cases in submarine history," declared one official, who has seen much submarine service.

MOTHER OF LOST GIRL GOES HOME

from New York they will carry on the hunt, their counsel, Major Thomas J. Hammond, announced.

Before leaving for his home St. John Smith issued the following statement:

"Mrs. Smith and I wish to express through the kindness of the press our gratitude for the sympathy of every kind which we receive increasingly from all directions. The faith and infinite kindness and the quick and varied resourcefulness so generally offered by everyone, from those in authority to many who do not even sign their names, add to our hope and touch us deeply."

A few hours before they departed, Major Stanley Washburn, war correspondent, author and explorer, arrived for a conference with the father. The two are fellow friends, and Major Washburn has been heading the New York angle of the investigation.

Mrs. Smith's statement, that she was confident Frances was alive, was made to Rev. Arthur Lee Kinsolving, rector of the Amherst Episcopal church which members of the Smith family attend during their vacation months they spend at South Amherst.

It followed a conference between members of the family, Major Washburn and Major Hammond. Major Washburn's arrival and the fact that the conferees were in communication with President William Allen Neilson of the college gave rise to the belief that some new clew had been uncovered.

While of the two theories still retained, one holds Miss Smith a runaway as a result of mental depression, the hope that the girl is still alive is almost exclusively held here by her family.

State Detective Joseph V. Daly has not changed his original belief that she is a suicide. Other authorities, while no official statement has been made, believe the same. The entire student body in Ukraine assembled to view the girl's 12 days' absence from her studies in the fault of self-destruction.

A check-up of every single class has failed to disclose any as genuine and the feeling prevails that Miss Smith, like Alice Corbett, who vanished from the college more than two years ago, will never be found.

The swift-running Connecticut below the Hadley bridge, where many hold the girl would have sought her death if she was determined to destroy herself, offers now no opportunity for dredging. As a result of the storm and cold spell the waters are filled with great ice cakes that menace small boats venturing out.

Present plans still include the use of an airplane in the search for her today if the weather permits of taking off, but great sections of the river and all of the ponds are now frozen over, whereas a few days ago there were miles of open water.

Charges State Has Neglected Bunker Hill Monument

Charges that the State has neglected Bunker Hill Monument, mecca for thousands of tourists from all over the country, were made today at a hearing before the legislative committee on metropolitan affairs by Representative Charles S. Sullivan, Jr., of Charlestown.

The representative asked that $50,000 be appropriated to repair the grounds and walks.

suffering from third degree burns over his entire body, where he died a few hours later.

The story of the blast may never be told as Pierce and Chase were the only ones in the building. Aluminum and barium, used in the manufacture of the "sparklers," was stored there in large quantities.

Fate played a hand in saving the life of Michael Hurley, 32, of Rockland, who left the building but a minute before the blast. Officials of the company said that Hurley was regularly employed there—in building No. 140.

A theory that an explosion of aluminum dust, sometimes caused by spontaneous combustion or a spark from a tool is dropped, was advanced as the cause.

Soon after the plant opened for the day the grounds rocked and the small building crumbled.

The plant fire department extinguished the flame that followed before help called from outside reached the scene. Damage was estimated at $500.

The accident marked the third in the same number of working days at the plant. Friday Joseph Colosky was taken to the Goddard Hospital, Brockton, suffering from first degree burns when powder ignited and flared up into his face. The following day a rubbish fire was discovered near one of the 150 small detached buildings that caused another scare.

PHONE THREATS TO HARM TOTS

James E. McArdle, reported to the police that a man whom from his voice she believed to be middle aged, had telephoned her:

"If you don't get out of the city in six days, your Betty will be blinded."

The connection was broken at that point, and Mrs. McArdle, terror stricken, notified Captain Ernest Howard of the Somerville police. An investigation was begun through the telephone company, which revealed that at least two similar threats had been made to other families, one of them that of a prominent lawyer.

Captain Howard instructed Mr and Mrs. McArdle to keep careful watch over the little girl, whose name is Harriett, the same as her mother's, and who is known as Betty. The parents decided to take no chances and today Betty was in hiding instead of attending the Martha Perry Lowe School on Morrison avenue.

Captain Howard sent out an alarm to all officers of the department, with particular instructions to watch over children going to and coming from school.

Mrs. McArdle told the police that Betty is her child by a previous marriage.

away, the other that Holmes had been called out of town.

Mrs. Holmes, who has a batch of letters written to her husband by Miss Delnulye, according to information given to the police, today charged her husband with desertion and announced she was leaving for Boston to join relatives.

Holmes was assistant pastor of the First Baptist Church in Paterson for about a year. Following trouble with some of the younger members of the congregation, he resigned. He joined the Broadway Baptist Church in an unofficial capacity and Miss Delnulye, who had been in the First Baptist Church choir, made the same transfer.

The missing girl was employed until Thursday in a Paterson textile mill. Her parents live in Fairlawn, N. J. Holmes recently made a bid for new employment when the pastor of the First Baptist Church resigned. He was permitted to preach from the pulpit there only a week ago as a test of his ability.

Holmes, who is forty-five, was last seen with the missing girl at the railroad in Paterson according to information given police by Mrs. Holmes.

The missing minister went to Paterson from Boston two years after held a pastorate in western Massachusetts, followed by study in Texas and in this city. His wife was associated with him in his religious work wherever his duties took him.

THREE WOMEN FLEE IN EAST BOSTON FIRE

Flames that firemen battled for three hours today drove three women occupants from the three-story wooden house at No. 213 Bremen street, East Boston, and caused damage estimated at $2,000. The fire started from an overheated furnace and rapidly spread through the house to the roof. Firemen were called on a still alarm but District Chief Flynn ordered a two alarms sounded for more apparatus. The women who fled were Mrs. Joseph Mizello, wife of the owner, Mrs. Philippo Ciccorelli and Mrs. Albert Cantone.

The committee was also asked by members of the Metropolitan Driving Club to favor a bill calling for the construction of a new boulevard parallel with the Charles River in the Brighton district.

SOUTH FLORIDA TRUCK CROPS KILLED BY COLD

Miami, Fla., Jan. 30 (A.P.).—From two-thirds to all of many truck growing truck crops in South Florida were injured when temperatures below freezing were recorded here Saturday and Sunday by the lowest temperatures in this section in two years.

Damage to crops in Dade County was estimated at $250,000. Tomato fields in the Redlands district south of Miami suffered heavy losses. On the west coast killing frost extended as far south as St. Petersburg and Tampa, but little damage to truck crops was reported.

times until over Brookline, when his engine failed.

The plane was 2,000 feet over the town when the gasoline supply was exhausted.

The pilot looked around for "a soft spot" and the series of snow covered lawns on the Anderson estate caught his eye, and he headed for it in a long glide. He dropped scandalously out of the sky but scores of persons in the vicinity watched the approaching plane and it passed so close to them they could hear the shriek of wind about the struts.

Olsen chose an open spot between the trees on the Goddard avenue side, flattened out for a run or makeover in the usual manner, but struck a three-point landing as possible without the aid of his motor.

He struck the ground, the snow flew and the plane plunged through the fence, leaving its under-carriage behind.

A reduction in the tax rate for next year was forecast today when Mayor Nichols' administration officially closed the city's 1927 books with a showing of a cash surplus of $1,201,774.79.

The surplus can be applied to this year's expenses and the tax rate kept down. The 330 rate will be Ossorible affected when the new figure is announced next Summer.

The state's payment on account of $928,532 of overlay on State income tax the largest single factor in the surplus. Miscellany $440,043 accrued from amount appropriations for city departments. County officers, District Attorney W. J. Foley in particular, conducted their departments under appropriations.

The city's borrowing power for this year will be $7,252,791.

'BOSSY' GILLIS IN BATTLE OF WITS WITH N. Y. MAYOR

OPERA'S BLACK EYES AND CARUSO SUCCESSOR HERE

WALKER SCORES HEAVILY AS CLASH OPENS

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN,
International News Correspondent.

New York, Jan. 30—Andrew J. ("Bossy") Gillis, the hard-boiled, wise-cracking classic of Newburyport, crossed wits with Mayor Jimmy Walker of New York city this afternoon, and Jimmy stopped Andy cold.

After they had shaken hands in City Hall, within 40 reporters straining their ears to catch the repartee, "Bossy" said:

"This morning after I got up I was taking a bath—"

"Now I know why you came to New York," grinned Walker.

The spectators roared.

"Score one for New York," retorted Gillis.

That hot shot from Walker hit "Bossy" right on the "button." He seemed dazed and scratched his reddish-brown head.

"Where's Grover Whalen?" blurted "Bossy." Whalen is the gentleman who wears tall silk hats and officially welcomes visitors to New York for the Mayor.

"We only have Grover for strangers," replied Walker. "You are one of our own."

Gillis smiled and recovered his poise. He began, in his marvelous way, to tell the Mayor how he had been elected chief executive of Newburyport. It seems the former Mayor wanted to stop "Bossy" from putting up a gasoline station—and I socked him one.

MOTHER TUCKS MARSHALL IN HUB BED

Taking a leaf from Florence Marshall, but if a mother kisses her favorite son good night before she goes to bed, or tucks him in, is another matter.

All we know about it is what we learned last Monday, and gets his fun by taunting the black eyes on his beautiful mother as "Lu Greenbacks." This is not true.

The famous tenor Miss Van Gordon replaced was Jason Noah Gordon, sent to our Lyric as an emergency at the Boys' Carlton immediately upon her arrival into the Second Civic Opera Company notice it became also importantly announced a black eye in her left to her face to the hurt art of "Aida" last year and another the year before in "Il Trovatore." Now she comes prepared, it seems, she refuses nor to tolerate bumps in the opera, which has proven quite safe for the whole time and season.

'BOSSY' GILLIS DRESSES UP TO SEE WALKER

"And now you're Mayor," interjected Walker admiringly.

The Mayor remarked that if he was as good as "Bossy" with his "dukes" he'd like to have a certain few in New York refuse him raseline stations.

"Is this your entourage?" asked Walker, pointing to the army of reporters.

"My what?" replied Gillis.

Camera men herded Walker, Gillis and former Mayor James M. Curley of Boston into a corner to be photographed.

"Shoot!" shouted Gillis. This is getting good. I guess I'm putting the old town on the map."

"Bossy" struck a pose and brushed a few particles of dust from his $25 suit. He wore a blue and white polka dot tie and a fountain pen peeped above his breast pocket. He is a stocky, ruddy-faced chap of 51 with a bump nose.

WALKER VERY DAPPER.

Walker was as dapper as usual, living up to his reputation of the best-dressed mayor in the country. He wore a neat blue serge suit, blue and white shirt, blue and white collar and gray spats.

"How'd ye come down?" Walker asked Gillis.

"By subway," replied Gillis. "I'm not much on this high-hat stuff."

"We ought to have a subway running from Boston to support the New York" said Walker. "I'd like to see more of you."

"I'll have to try and put that one over," replied Gillis. "I'm going to put my town on the map in the next two years or get out. If they don't toss me out I'll come down here—it seems to be a live place."

"Love place? Do you think it will last?"

Gillis didn't seem to get that one.

Then he told the Mayor he thought he was "a regular guy," even though he is a Democrat. "Bossy" is a Republican. The Mayor assured him there were a few good Democrats.

ABOUT "COMPAIONATES."

A reporter asked "Bossy" if there were any companionate marriages in his town.

"Show me a town where that kind of stuff isn't going on," he replied.

Bossy Gillis came into this morning, donned a $25 suit of clothes, surveyed himself approvingly in the mirror and announced he was "all set" to pay a formal call on Mayor Walker.

"I guess Jimmy'll stand for a little informality," he remarked. "These rags of mine don't hang so bad."

He called "room service"—he's learning fast—and had breakfast sent up, griddlecakes, ham and eggs and two cups of coffee. Juggling a piece of ham on a fork, he remarked to one of the reporters:

"Say, Buddy, you get service in these New York hotels. Yesterday I told them I wanted bananas and cream and that I wanted 'em in bed. In two minutes they sent up a gallon punch bowl."

He had a "grand" time at the night clubs. He surveyed some good-looking blondes with an interested eye and someone said: "How'd you like to take home one of those babies?" You know it isn't the original cost, it's the upkeep." Gillis came right back at him: "That's all right if I can trade one in every year for a new one."

MEETS TEXAS GUINAN.

He wanted to see "Texas" Guinan, the girl they named the Texas battleship after.

"She's a swell baby," he remarked, after he gave her a big, gnarled hand.

contact. He is the happiest person in any crowd and his smile is very contagious.

"But I didn't always smile when folks talked about my singing," Marshall said grimly. "There was a time when even my best girl thought I had bats in my belfry because I wanted to sing. She did me a favor—she made me determined to show her—and I have."

MOTHER TUCKS HIM IN.

Marshall is modest—one has to drag everything out of him, for, in spite of having lived and studied under the best masters in Italy, France, Germany and here in America, he remains a typical New Englander, more inclined to prove his worth than talk about it.

"It was great having mother come all the way from Lewiston to tuck me in bed last night," he said. "I am still her little boy and I mind what she tells me."

For the modern girl Marshall has one bit of advice. That is:

"Modulate your voice. Of what value is a pretty face if a strident noise escapes otherwise charming lips? Personality and brains are even more valuable if a girl wishes to attain operatic fame, but I would like to see softer voices and clearer diction."

As Carlo Marsiali this now famous tenor began his career in European capitals, but when his big chance came to sing "Othello" with the Chicago Grand Opera Company in 1920 he resumed the name of Marshall and became overnight Caruso's rival for the title "greatest living dramatic tenor."

Marshall sings tonight, Saturday evening in "Aida" and the second Saturday matinee as Samson in "Samson and Delilah."

Miss Van Gordon, mezzo soprano, sings tonight in "La Gioconda," Wednesday matinee as Ortrud in "Lohengrin," Wednesday evening next week as Venus in "Tannhauser" and the second Saturday matinee as Delilah in "Samson and Delilah."

British Hero

EARL HAIG

Field Marshal Douglas Haig, leader of armies of Great Britain in the World War, died in London today.

GEN. HAIG, WAR LEADER, DIES SUDDENLY

London, Jan. 30 (A.P.)—Earl Douglas Haig, who as commander-in-chief of the British armies in France and Belgium contributed in a large share to the Allies success in 1918, died here today. He was sixty-six years old.

The British field marshal, whose name is linked with Marshal Foch of France and General Pershing of the United States in the victory over the Germans, died unexpectedly of heart disease.

Since the war Earl Haig has devoted much of his time to organizing relief for disabled soldiers and their families.

The marshal was reserved almost to the point of coldness, but those who were really acquainted with him during the war said that beneath his icy exterior beat a warm heart which bled duly as the great soldier was compelled to send his men against the instruments of death.

As soon as the war ended he started a campaign to raise funds for the men who had given their all. He originated a Poppy Day, an annual event when millions of cloth flowers made entirely by former service men and representing the crimson poppies that bloom in Flanders, are sold throughout Great Britain for the benefit of the disabled soldiers.

His last public utterance Saturday showed him in the light of a staunch defender of his country. He told a troop of Boy Scouts at Richmond:

"Stand up for England when people speak disrespectfully of her. Try and realize what citizenship and public spirit really means."

Yesterday he took a walk in Hyde Park and despite a heart ailment was contemplating a visit to the Riviera.

POSTPONE HEARING ON "GREATER BOSTON" BILL

A hearing on the bill of William J. Earl Haig Killed by War Strain, Doctors Say

London, Jan. 30 (I.N.S.).—Although Earl Haig, former commander-in-chief of the British Army, served throughout the war without a wound, it was the war that killed him, according to opinion of doctors today.

His death was directly attributed to heart failure, but the physicians said it was really due to the strain of the war and overwork. After the war Earl Haig worked unceasingly raising funds for the relief of disabled veterans.

WEAVERS QUIT; STRIKE LOOMS IN FALL RIVER

Fall River, Jan 30 (A.P.)—Officials of the Weavers' Union announced at noon today that more than 100 weavers of th Davis Mills have left work.

They said they had not learned the reason for the walkout but believe it is due to the 10 per cent. cut in wages effective today. The weavers left after reporting for work at the rate per hour.

A meeting will be held at labor headquarters later today to hear the weavers' story.

The emergency committee of the American Federation of Textile Operatives also voted today to recommend that a secon. strike vote be taken on the 10 pe. cent. wage reduction effective today in cotton mills.

The federation includes a majority of union workers here. The vote of the committee was sent to the textile council, representing all unions of the city, except those connected with the United Textile Workers, and will be acted upon tonight. If the council approves, a second strike vote will be taken.

The operatives reported for work at all the mills today, in accordance with the vote of the textile council last week in which the wage cut was accepted by a narrow margin.

CAPT. HYLAND NAMED NAVY YARD EXECUTIVE

Captain John J. Hyland, commander of the U. S. S. Raleigh, was named captain and executive officer of the Boston Navy Yard, according to word received at the Navy Yard today.

Captain Hyland, who is now on leave, served as aide to Rear Admiral H. O. Dunn and Rear Admiral Spence Wood, when they were commandants of the First Naval District. Captain Hyland will relieve Captain J. D. Willson, commanding officer of the receiving ship Southery, who has been acting captain of the yard since August 1 of last year.

"FRAMEUP!" DECLARES R. I. COLLEGE DIRECTOR

Providence, Jan. 29 (A.P.)—Dr. Burt L. Hartwell, who has been removed as director of the experiment station at the Rhode Island State College, today charged that his removal was a "frame-up" on the part of the board of managers.

He denied that his dismissal was due to "friction with Washington" over the conduct of the station, as claimed by the board.

KISSES NOW FOR BERLENBACH

New York, Jan. 29 (I.N.S.)—The threatened feud battle between Paul Berlenbach and Mrs. Rose Anne Riley Berlenbach ended in a clinch today in the office of Richard J. Barry, Berlenbach's attorney. It was a long clinch, too, with the smack of kisses. The Berlenbachs have made up.

"NOT SORRY!" SAYS WIFE AS BOOTLEG KILLS SELF

Chicago, Jan. 29 (I.N.S.)—"I hate to say it, but I'm not sorry he's gone," today declared Mrs. Mary Weimer, whose husband, Joseph, crazed by moonshine, killed himself in his home after a spectacular gun battle with police.

More than 1,500 gathered about the house, where a huge still and eight barrels of mash were found.

Boston's official temperature sank to 11, the season's lowest mark, today as the weatherman blew upon his hands, cast a frosty eye about the horizon and predicted at least 36 hours more of intense cold for all New England.

Furthermore, said the very same weatherman, the cold wave is quite apt to be followed, by a heavy snow storm as there is an intensive storm area moving in this direction. The storm may hit Boston tomorrow night.

Old Mr. Winter, with the icicle whiskers, was breathing hard from his stormy exertions of yesterday, and every puff was a cold blast.

"There's a little snow starter. (Puff.) Try a little cold weather."

The old gentleman, hiding in the wings for the past six weeks, folded up his cumulus, said a few magic words and out popped a frigid blast that sent the mercury tumbling to sub-zero marks in the suburbs.

From Concord, Bedford and Lexington came reports of below zero weather.

Thermometer 30 Below Zero at Saranac Lake

New York, Jan. 30 (A.P.)—The Eastern States today shivered in temperatures ranging from 30 degrees below zero to 10 above, marking the coldest wave of the season to date.

At Saranac Lake the temperature was 30 degrees below. At Malone, N. Y., searchers found the body of John Finn of St. Amcet, Que., who had been frozen to death.

In Eastern Pennsylvania more than twenty inches of snow fell. Bellefonte and Mcclville showed temperatures of 10 below zero. The thermometer in some parts of Connecticut fell to 15 degrees below zero.

For the first time this Winter tugboats had to cut their way through ice to make their way along the Raritan River.

At Poughkeepsie the thermometer on the Vassar College campus registered 12 below and in the hills of Dutchess and Ulster counties fell to 20 and 25 degrees below. In New York city the thermometer rose from 13 above zero to 18 degrees this forenoon.

BOWER HEARD IN BOSCH SUIT

Joseph A. Bower, vice-president of the New York Trust Company and a director in nearly a score of Eastern banking and industrial corporations, took the witness stand in Federal Court today to testify for the government in the $5,500,000 Bosch suit.

He was expected to describe the events which led up to the seizure of the Bosch Magnato Company by Allen Property Custodian A. Mitchell Palmer in 1918 and the circumstances surrounding its sale at public auction in December of that year.

Former Judge Harry Covington of Maryland, Arthur T. Murray of Sovingfield, Hornblower & Weeks, Martin E. Kern and several others are charged with conspiracy to defraud the government of $5,500,000 by conspiring the real assets of the Bosch company and by eliminating competitive bidding to allow Kern to purchase the property at a figure much below it. actual value.

HELD AS DESERTER, MAN DRINKS DOSE OF POISON

Stephen Pushcart, a marine prisoner on board the U. S. S. receiving ship Southery, is on the danger list at the Naval Hospital in Chelsea, suffering from the effects of drinking a quantity of lye water, navy yard officials say, with suicidal intent.

Pushcart was being held aboard the receiving ship awaiting the finding of the court martial which recently tried him on the charge of desertion. He is believed to have been despondent.

Pushcart was found by a fellow marine and removed to the Chelsea Hospital, where he was given medical aid and his name placed on the danger list. His next of kin is his father, who resides in Milwaukee.

WAR VET WHO TALKED WITH LINCOLN DEAD AT 97

Marlboro, Jan. 30 (A.P.)—Lewis T. "SCARFACE" CAPONE AND HIS BROTHER ARRESTED

New Orleans, La. Jan. 30 (I.N.S.)—"Scarface Al" Capone, supposed leader of Chicago, and his brother, Ralph Capone, lieutenant, were arrested here today in the Roosevelt Hotel and were found to be carrying three revolvers and rounds of ammunition.

Significance to the appearance of the Capone brothers in New Orleans, according to police, was revealed when it was learned Mayor William Hale Thompson of Chicago and his party were expected here Wednesday.

11 Aristocratic Boys Held as Rye Beach Robbers

Rye, N. H., Jan. 30 (A.P.)—Eleven boys, sons of prominent residents of this town, were framed today by police for looting 35 Summer places, including the Head Farmout and Rye Beach Club, since the season ended.

Loot, which consisted of about every article which owners store in Summer cottages, was found about the homes of the boys, police said.

The youths, who range from 11 to 16 years, will be arraigned into juvenile court within the next few days.

They were rounded up only after the police had conducted a three months' investigation.

BRILLIANT OPENING ASSURED OPERA SEASON TONIGHT WITH HUB SOCIETY OUT IN FORCE

Mrs. Barney Procures Beebe Films Again for Charity, Says Betty Alden

BOSTON'S OPERA SEASON, OPENING THIS EVENING WHEN Maestro Polacco waves his baton in a hushed and crowded Opera House for "La Gioconda's" operatic notes to fly, is one thing at least very Metropolitanish. It has an "Omnibus" cast. Certain medish matrons, vastly important in the social world and devoted to Opera during its brilliant but very brief Boston sojourn, are thus sharing the delights of being "box holders," and sharing, also, the limelight that casting only plays over the glittering horseshoe. This division of honors is made necessary by the unprecedented demand for "boxes" and all other reservations.

TAKING TURNS AT BEING THE BOX'S CENTRAL ORNAMENTS. There are such always handsomely bejeweled matrons as Mrs Harry Hill Thorndike, Mrs Frederick Stubbs Whitwell, Mrs Herbert Foster Otis, Mrs Clarence Hanson Edwards, Mrs J Brooks Fenno, Mrs. Horace Binney and Mrs. Henry Parkman, Jr. A most ornamental group would be difficult to name. They all do their opera in the grand manner—and Cromels gowned, prettily jeweled, exotically perfumed, generously wrapped in exotic feather-edged furs, the butterflies to their cocoons.

EVERY BOX in the horseshoe will have its full quota. Mrs. B. H. Bristow Draper's party occupies the box nailed to the proscenium ceiling. Nearby will be Mrs. Edward Jackson Holmes, the gracious chatelaine of the box for which Mrs W. Scott Fitz is responsible year after year. In the keystone box of the scintillating crescent will be Mrs. Hinkley Welch with a party including the Henry Bowditch Grews. The Welch-Grew box is always the synonym of longevities, for that is quite one of Mamma Welch's fortes, to be seen, then great Grand Opera.

AMUSING THE "STILL-VERY young set" is a laudable purpose animating certain lofty minded matrons of the top-lofty set. What shall we do specially for our children, say they. How fill their Saturdays out of school profitably and pleasantly. How carry up an educational dish spiced with the sauce of amusement specially prepared for youthful consumption. Boston street is baking the matter in hand. Energetic and resourceful. Bred with enthusiasm for fine things. Mrs. Barney proceeds to find the answer to this question palpitating so many mother hearts.

IT IS THE MOVING PICTURE WHICH NEVER FAILS TO THRILL childish souls. It proves to be exactly the pleasant sauce garnishing bread and butter educational pudding the young are consumes with relish and gusto. Specially when the films weave a story of faraway lands and strange sights. Witness the outpouring of youngsters at the Hotel Statler Saturday morning when Major A. Radcliffe Dugmore presented his African Wanderings films. So Mrs. Barney, seeing how the winds of favor blow, looks about for the unpopular-attractive film to suit the eager children.

ON FEBRUARY 18, AT THE HOTEL STATLER, MRS. BARNEY IS presenting for a return engagement, William Beebe and his marvelous "Under the Sea" film. Mr. Beebe and his film filled Symphony Hall to the doors not long ago, when Mrs. Malcolm Lang brought him over for a pet cause. Now Mrs. Barney counts on repeating that success. Of course, with her interest in the background. But not only in the background. The mainspring of the entire affair is the keen desire, as I have just said, to fill up profitably the "Still Very Young Set's" Saturday morning hours.

Mrs. J. Dellinger Barney of Marlborough street is baking the matter in hand. Energetic and resourceful. Bred with enthusiasm for fine things. Mrs. Barney proceeds to find the answer to this question palpitating so many mother hearts.

Small Bostonians bring out the long unused sled and make the most of belated Winter. Little Joanne Phillips and Priscilla Potts are the Smart Set children reveling in the snow.

CERTAINLY MAJOR DUGMORE'S BIG GAME FILM, AT THE Statler, did exactly that. Crowds of the school children set, conscientiously guided by parents or maids, filled the ballroom and hung on every word and every picture. The craziest hopes of Mrs. Henry M. Channing and her Homeschool Nursing Association conferees must have been realized. At any rate the morning served excellently to corral the dollars that lubricate association machinery. So great is the rejoicing among typically ones having its welfare at heart.

CERTAINLY THE PASSING SEASON TAKES NO LITTLE luminosity from its distinguished visitors, who come to town principally for this or that benefit, those famous ones of the Commander Richard Byrd ilk, who furnish what of social protechnics the season boasts. For a worthy cause, and with the most influential of backing, Commander Byrd comes to town on February 23. Behind the brilliant birdman that he is, Commander Byrd's name and fame will completely fill the enormous ballroom of the Hotel Statler. And, resultantly, there will grow into Boston Lying-in Hospital Coffers many a dollar. Mrs. Thomas Jeraldine Gannett, Mrs. Henry Bigelow, Mrs. William Endicott and others of the gilded upper strates are working valiantly for the cause.

REGULARS AT THE NEW RIDING CLUB SHOW RECOGNIZED in the splendid performer "Melody" an old time favorite. When with Mrs. Robert Almy up "Melody" carried off the blue and the Medley Cup for Ladies Hacks, both horse and rider won a round of applause. Mrs. Almy, in very correct jim-dandy attire, and old "Melody" were the Favorites both with ring and gallery. The Ado mount is an old timer veteran of many a show and winner of countless ribbons. Another veteran to get a round of clapping from the greatly interested gallery was "Show Me," from the Deer Hill Farm stables, "Deer Hill" being the Hugh Bancroftz Cohasset place.

MR. AND MRS. SIDNEY W. WINSLOW, JR., WHO BROUGHT friends to the Show, naturally were much elated when several ribbons came to adorn Winslow mounts, expertly handled by the son and daughter. Miss Miriam Winslow, Mrs. Winslow was very smart in black cloth and furs, with a succession of white to enhance the deep jet black of her hat. Miss Winslow's ring get-ups were exactly the thing, the last word in correctness. Mrs. Frederick N. Kimball was in black and Swampscott, with her daughter, Miss Leonora Kimball, made a handsome entry in the "Parent and Child" class, as did Mr. Kimball and Nelson Kimball.

THE HUGH BANCROFTS were interested spectators, as was also Miss Jessie Bancroft, she however, preferring the paddock rather than the gallery, as vantage point. Mrs. J. Harold Tolman, newly come to the Riding Club fold, watched the Tolman entries carry off various ribbons, "Sparkle" and "Radiant" in the "Parent and Child" class, Miss Virginia Tolman riding with her father, got third honors in a closely contested class. Samuel J. Shaw's keen interest in horse lately centred, of course, in Miss Elizabeth Sprague's "Stonewall" and "Scarlett Rambler," two mounts so selected for his niece's string.

LINDY GREETED IN CARACAS

CARACAS, Venezuela, Jan. 30 (A.P.)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, conqueror of the Atlantic and the Andes mountain ranges, is the national hero of Venezuela today. All this city turned out to give him a tumultuous welcome upon his arrival here from Maracaibo, where he landed at 4:30 o'clock Sunday evening, after being lost two hours in fog and spent the night.

Crowds filled the streets, waving flags and shouting "Vivas" until they were hoarse. Pretty young women, their arms filled with flowers, gave him bouquets, soldiers called the police to muzzling the cheering crowds. The "Lone Eagle" looked gone and exhausted by the tumultuous greeting, although he had been through it many times before.

On his arrival at Maracay, President Gomez conferred the medal of the Order of Liberty upon the famous flier, smiling him a "congratulations."

Colonel Lindbergh planned to spend the night here as a guest at the United States Legation, hopping off tomorrow morning on the continuation of his "good will" tour. From here he will turn northward, flying to St. Thomas, in the Caribbean.

Lindbergh was delayed two hours on his flight from Bogota by fog, low-lying clouds and head winds. He ran into a storm, but determinedly kept on.

CANADA IS HOST TO COSGRAVE

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 30 (A.P.)—The Canadian capital today was host to William T. Cosgrave, President of the Irish Free State Executive Council.

The schedule for his brief visit here of official courtesy from Premier Mackenzie King and Cabinet.

The Irish President and party are guests in Government House, where a luncheon was arranged before they left the House of Commons, and addresses were planned by Premier King and R. B. Bennett, leader of the opposition.

HELP KIDNEYS BY DRINKING MORE WATER

Kidney and bladder irritations often result from inability to drink enough water. The kidneys help filter this water from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, which it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a flood of symptoms that bother him, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, making you go often and suffer scalding pains during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread. The water passes scalding hot, or in burning sensation and is very scanty, again, there is difficulty in making it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they have to "get up nights" to relieve urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, the condition is often relieved by simple stimulation to overcome lazy kidneys and bladder by drinking lots of soft water, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys should then act fine. This will help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to kidney trouble or bladder disorders caused by too much acidity. Jad Salts causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which you may quickly relieve your bladder irritation.

TAKE SPANISH SOIL TO BURY IBANEZ

Madrid, Spain, Jan. 30 (A.P.)—Determined that Vicente Ibanez, who died while on exile from Spain, should be buried in Spanish soil, a group of his friends are taking the soil with them to Marseilles, France, his last resting place. Each one, when taking a handful of Valencia, his birthplace, is said he will be buried tomorrow, as the Republican novelist, who died in Menton, will not be taken from his grave. The soil will be taken from the grave in Menton, and will be buried in Valencia, where Ibanez wrote or pictured the novels which brought him fame.

It was estimated by friends here today that Ibanez left $4,000,000 pesetas (nearly $1,000,000) when he died.

Ibanez was a member of a friend who had been banished from Spain by the dictatorship of Primo de Rivera, and was in exile at the time of his death. He was a writer of many books, which brought him fame and fortune, he spent lavishly and only a few days before his death, he wrote a friend that he hoped to leave a nice money and provide for his family."

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Anne, my dear:

Isn't it jolly to be able to pick up gorgeous values in Winter things, and at the same time to discover such alluring signs of Spring? I can hardly wait to show you the treasures I'm finding every day.

Still Again

Annex Bargains most amazing! Coats reduced to $40.00, $50.00, $65.00, from original prices up to $125.00. Your choice of any coat in the house—one sweathed in fur from collar to hem—126 of 'em, you've "had your eye on" for some time. It's markers $53.00 now—from $125.00. Aren't you lucky! Not many known as fortunate, for there are only about 75 coats left, sizes up to 46, each drastically reduced for this last week's Specialty Sale. Annex, 3rd floor, Tremont.

Irresistible Egyptian mixtures, broadcloths, soft suede weaves—with coat fit for a queen. Be early, or someone will capture your coat!

(A secret, Anne—new Spring frocks at $19.00!

Youth Eternal

The dream of Everywoman, isn't it, Anne? For in this twice-daily round their cheeks and eyes wear a gray hair betray her age.

Nor need she, by Max. 164 Dorchester Avenue the easier third floor to the act of keeping lovely woman lovely. Emphasis into daylight booths where you may consult with reliantly go to have your hair trimmed so perfectly that even you yourself can't detect it. And the joy of it is, you may wash your hair, have it permanently waved or otherwise treated exactly as if you'd never had a gray hair. He does expert waving, too. Just call Capitol 8551.

True Distinction

And a rung of fifth Avenue dark in every one of Jordan Marsh frocks. And, Anne, they're wonderful values! You'll want to buy them by twos and threes! Think of a $29.98 frock for $19.98—one for $19.98—one for $19.98. That's just a hint of what you'll find in the Girls' down Shoppe, 5th Floor at 41 Winter street. Adorable eve ning gowns, reduced, the smartest of jolie crepes, satins, georgettes, all in lovely colors. Bridge and afternoon frocks; daytime frocks—scarce two alike. And tiny frocks (their arrogance at $15.00) a group of sure Spring prints, flat crepes—one pleated "kerchief model.

Fine Furs

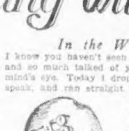
Certainly make fine-looking folks, Anne! How grand and luxurious you feel in a new fur coat! And how clever when you've saved dozens of dollars on your clothes budget! Gorgeous values you'll find in the fur store of George L. Griffin & Son, Inc., at 164 to 170 Washington St. and make your selection. Soft Australian opossum coats reduced to $149.00; formerly $195. Natural squirrel coats reduced to $187.50 from $195. Hudson Seal (seal dyed muskrat) coats $225 from $295. Opossum collarette coats marked $225 from $300. And these are only a suggestion of scores of other splendid values ranging from $75 to $425.

The Royal Road

To happiness? Oh, yes, there is one. It leads over a certa n well-worn threshold to—can you guess, Anne? It over the threefold pled ge: Soiliers shall be dand shapeless feet. But OUT over the threefold trip sprightly feet—trimly shod, lesh stepping feet—eager for the day's tasks. I watched them the other day, amazed at the change. Just then out dashed Emily Shoe in a pair of the smartest of Empey pumps (only $8.00, she said) fitted-to-measure after one of those marvelous foot treatments that relieves corns, callouses, arches. You've guessed it now—the threshold is Dr. Saul's — our Chiropodist-Podiatrist at Room 312, 119 Tremont St. What a genius he is!

In the White and Gold Room

I know you haven't seen it yet, Anne, but it's growing so popular and so much talked of, you probably can see it perfectly in your mind's eye. Today I dropped in to glance the landscape over, so to speak, and ran straight into the arms of an old friend of mine.



She'd just got back from New York, where she's been quite busy fixing hats for this fall's campaign. Some hats for this newly delgned to try on a tashing title off-the-face felt in Castillian red, and crowned to stare when she found she'd coming it was! She looked so well in it that I hunted around for a similar one for Suzanne. This one has that jaunty up over-the-eye effect beloved of Reboux—all saved-by hand! Lots of those new little felt and straw combinations, too, Anne, just made to wear right now. Each at $5.00.

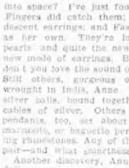
Bubbles—and Fairy Fingers

Remember, Anne, how we used to play at blowin' bubbles—tossed them in the air and watched the "Fairy Fingers" wait them off into space? I've just found out where they really went to. Fairy Fingers did catch them; gave them substance in the form of lit descent earrings; and Fashion claims .mem as her own. They're lovely—like great pearls and quite the newest thing in the new mode of earrings. Bubble earrings, don't you love the sound of that, for $2.00? Still others, gorgeous ones, are send wrought in India, Anne. Tiny clusters of silver balls, bound together with tiny cables of silver. Others have real lapis pendants, too, set about with gleaming marcasites or baguette pendants of glittering rhinestones. Any of these are $15.00 a pair—and what gnarticles they supply!

Another discovery, Anne. For a single dollar you can buy the cleverest little golden-pearl earrings. Like real pearls dusted over with a golden powder—either pear shape or round. Or you may choose long earrings with pearly stud and pendant linked by gleaming silvery leaves. Do send one in if you can't come yourself, for they're all at Filene's (street floor) along with dozens more I can't even remember about.

Lucille's Cachet

Distinguishes every pair, Anne, for she creates every subtle shade of them herself. Shades that lend themselves to the perfect complexion or perfect costume. For what, I ask you, profiteth the loveliest frock Without the silken hose that blends with it? We know the "answer," don't we? Holeproof. Preferably that picot-edged every-thread-silk chiffon style with their exclusive, just-over-from-Paris arch! Any shade you like. Yes, I'll refer you half a dozen pairs, you luxury-loving person, even if they are $2.50 a pair. I agree with you it's hardly extravagant, with the lee and elegant perfection of that make, them last so long. "ersonally it's my week for economy, so I m interested in the $1.95 group. Unquestionably they're made in the honey sueyday weight with exclusive heel and toe; chiffon, all silk, reinforced heel and toe; semi-chiffon with the popular block or pointed heels; and with three pairs at $5.75. Thrift for yourself, for they're all at Filene's (street floor) along with dozens more I can't even remember about.



I may even decide on the $1.50 ones with lisle tops and feet for every-day wear. I'm quite impressed with the variety they showed me the other day at Noyes Bros., 127 Tremont St. I'm taking Blanche in Friday. She's a Holeproof fan, too!

Sunlight

Instead of water to bathe in, Anne! Like stepping into the elixir of youth—and stepping out with perfect poise as a dancer! A specialty at Dorothy Wan da's Beauty Shop, Room 807, 34 West St. There's a wonderful deodorant, too, in compact form ($1.50) to make you fresh and fragrant as the morning. Dust on a bit of powder and the deed's done. Other beauty aids found there: Jean Seneeas greaseless brilliantine 50c; reducing lotion $1.50 a half-gallon; eyebrow dye, chaser and tissue cream $1.00; Lettuce cleansing cream 60c; protection cream in white, flesh, brunette $1.00. 25c extra for mailing.

Let's Take Patsy

And go down to Mac Callaghan's Shop, Anne! She has a special rack full of Patsy Original Darling pastel dance frocks—and a colorful array of popular wool and lovely frocks just made to wear be neath Winter coats. All marked now to only $10.00 (from $15.00). I even saw some of those gay Castilian red silk crepes all the girls are wearing. Brand new Spring frocks, too, at $15.00 (sizes to 42) each with that little individual touch we always find at Miss Callaghan's. Sutton, 21st floor, bright prints, and hosts of others. Mac Callaghan, Inc., 51 Arcade, Park Square Bldg.

Beauty for Sale!

Anne, I've made another real "find." No more shaggy locks, no more dry, wrinkled or faded hair—just listen. Special for today, Tuesday and Wednesday—a wave and a shampoo, the two together for only $3.00. At any time you can have a permanent wave, including the final shampoo and "setting" for only $5.00. Or, to take years off your shoulders, you may have your hair colored so skillfully nobody'd suspect it. All in a charming little shop, where only trained hair specialistes abide. Rooms 412-413, 110 Tremont St.—the Anora Beauty Shoppe. Call Capitol 7699, know her.

Modern Magic

Anne, I am age of wonders! I'm doubly sure of it every time I visit Julia D. Walsh. This time it was a young woman with strikingly dark hair, But Miss Walsh's Apopplied lineto (Scotch, and o—a lovely head of hair without a speck of hint of that "dyed" look She has colors for every type, and will treat hair in tired by harsh dyes. She's expert, too, with the electric needle and will provide also a manicure, a facial, a bob. Her finger waves, marcels, Nestle Circuline permanent waves are joys to behold. Fifth floor, Anne, 3 Winter St. Call Capitol 5320.

It's True, Anne,

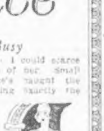
That rumor of a real "honest-to-goodness" sale of frocks for Misses—at only $10.75 now, for values from $15.00 to $18.50. Included are smart satins, flat crepes, georgettes, Canton crepes —in colors that every one wants. All sizes, Anne, from 14 to 20, but not every size in every style, of course. So I thought we'd run in early, I'd tell you about the early bird, don't you! Florence Daniels' Shop at 42 Winter St., 7th Floor.

Perfect Poise

That describes Sue to a T these days, Anne. I was amazed at her confidence and charm when we met the other day—she used to be so diffident. What do you think she told me? She'd been seeing Miss Rapport, Room 910, 126 Tremont St., and that disconcerting shadow of hesitation had gone without a trace. Miss Rapport is wonderful with the electric needle—removes superfluous hair safely, surely, painlessly. Sue just called Hancock 7256 for appointment, and presto—she's perfectly delighted! You'd hardly

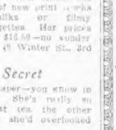
So Busy

Is Evelyn's shop I could scarce catch a glimpse of her small wonder, for she's taught the knack of choosing exactly the Right Thing While I watched, marveling, she fitted a slim little "flapper" to a darling blue sweater-suit of diagonal soft woolen rundoubt—and Next moment she was showing a dignified matron the heartwarming novelty afika in slenderizing slimline style. And, Anne, the most piquant of new print modes —lustrous silks or filmy flowered georgettes. Her prices —$3.95, $13.95, $15.50—no wonder she's rushed! (8 Winter St., 3rd Floor.)



A Secret

I'd like to whisper—you know to whom, Anne! She's really so pretty, but at tea the other day I noticed she'd overlooked a certain blemish of complexion. And it's so unnecessary, now, with all the wonders of Tricho System at 100 Boylston St. Every superfluous hair can be removed scientifically, successfully, painlessly, never to return! I'm so glad to know this system is endorsed by doctors, too. Somehow hat gives you such a confident feeling, doesn't it? And you can't help knowing that your cheek in creases along with your personal beauty. There's a thought to be mindful! Hancock 3252 for appointment.



Jewels Rare—

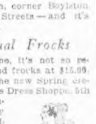
Ruby lips make teeth look pearly —lend a rare air to your every hint of mystery. All this charm hidden within a tiny, pointed lip stick, as also in a gay little gamine case, with a wee mirror to gratulate the stick of fascinating coloring. Or the lipstick Tussy, sub tly sensed and with six different shades so you can be sure of your own individual tint. It's made in France of the finest oils, is absolutely indelible, and in France it's packaged and sealed. You'd love it, Anne, the more because it's available (with Meyer Jonasson, corner Boylston and Tremont Streets—and it's only $1.50, too.

Individual Frocks

Of course, Anne, it's not so remarkable to find frocks at $15.00, but my word, the new models and creations at Allyn's Dress Shoppe, 5th Floor, 41 Winter St., really are an individual and out of the ordinary as you'd wish to find. And individualized and appliqued little numbers—and such an adorable snug-at-the-nipline model, I just had to tell you about them. Lovely Spring shades of green, red, soft tans, besides navy and black. Prints and georgettes, too—sizes from 14 to 44. A truly charming collection!

Beauty's Charm

The fabled Fountain of Youth—Anne, dear, I've found its modern equivalent. A new, blissfully scientific "absorption system whereby the finest nerves of the skin are rejuvenated and invigorated, the slack cheek muscles, tis ue cells refreshed and banished like magic. Reproduces the face or skin condition. And in their place—clear, glowing color and velvety skin appear. If you like, an expert operative will go to your home, give you a marvelous facial treatment for $2.00 —really well worth $5.00. Consultation without charge at Post Institute, Room 910, 126 Tremont St. For appointment call daymarket 1647.



My Story's Done

for this week, Anne, though I'm simply bursting with news that's brewing. For all it's still officially Winter at its Worst we must keep a weather eye open for those Signs of Spring I mentioned. And on that score my story's hardly even begun! But of this more next week.

Yours faithfully,

Priscilla

REED TO SEEK N. E. DELEGATES

New York, Jan. 23 (A.P.).—The New York Times will say tomorrow that plans to seek delegates in New England States and in Pennsylvania and New Jersey were under discussion by friends of United States Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

A survey by Samuel W. Fordyce of St. Louis, chairman of the Missouri Democratic committee, and Lee Meriwether, vice-chairman, in the interest of Reed's candidacy, the Times will say, was said to have shown there was some chance of getting a few Reed delegates in those states, particularly in New England.

Convinced that New York State would be solidly for Smith, the Times will say, Senator Reed's friends have decided definitely not to make any attempts for delegates here.

Kellogg Talks With Holland by Radio Telephone

Washington Jan. 30 (I.N.S.).—Transoceanic radio telephone service between Washington and The Hague, Holland, was inaugurated today.

Secretary of State Kellogg exchanged greetings with the Dutch Minister of Foreign Affairs, F. Beberts Van Blokland, in his "Yes in the Dutch capital.

The conversation, at 9:25 a. m., consumed only a few minutes, and was confined entirely to an exchange of greetings and expressions of friendship in behalf of the two nations.

CROWDS CHEER TROTZKY ON HIS WAY TO EXILE

Warsaw, Jan. 3 (I.N.S.) Heavily guarded by the Soviet secret police, Leon Trotsky arrived at Tashkent today on his way to Viernoy and ultimate exile, according to local news papers.

The deposed one-time partner of Nikolai Lenin was cheered enthusiastically along the route, the reports stated, and those in sympathy with his opposite policies made attempts to greet him at every station.

CHAPLIN BENT, WHITE-HAIRED, IS SURPRISE

By WILLIAM H. PARKER.
International News Correspondent

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 30.—Not so long ago Charlie Chaplin, the film comedian, used to be a very young fellow with black curls, ruby and a ready smile. Now he is a little old man with drooping shoulders and more white hair than black.

The discovery was made by Hollywood friends of Chaplin when he made his first appearance at Grauman's Chinese Theatre, Hollywood, when a new Chaplin picture had its premiere, showing Chaplin has been more or less in retirement since his recent domestic difficulties.

Introduced by Fred Niblo, the director, Chaplin received an ovation that has transformed Chaplin in a few short years from one of Charlie's friends, nor the public, has realized, and those in sympathy with his opposite policies made attempts to greet him at every station.

Sid Grauman, long a personal friend of Chaplin, provided a souvenir program for the opening night. The cover was a large photograph of Chaplin with the words "Good Luck." The picture was taken several years ago. Unsuspecting the audience expected to see the same Chaplin step forth.

Chaplin walked slowly from the wings, rather wearily, as though life had placed a burden on his shoulders. The thought of the audience was not on what he said. It was his changed appearance.

"Hm, old he looks!"

This was the feminine comment in the audience.

"He's had a lot of trouble."

This from the masculine spectators.

MAYOR WALKER ON DIET; GIVES UP ALL LIQUORS

New York, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—The New York World today says Mayor James J. Walker has verified statements of Rev. Dr. Christian F. Reisner, pastor of the Chelsea Methodist Episcopal Church, who said Walker had told him he had quit drinking. Walker explained he had been on a diet which prohibits the use of alcohol in any form for more than four months. He said his meals usually consist of a little chicken and a cup of tea. He added that his physician has also forbidden the use of coffee.

BARES PLOT TO SLAY M'NEILL IN DUBLIN

London, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—At London newsstands were being sold on the streets telling of a plot against the life of James McNeill, high commissioner in London, will be the alleged Governor-General of the Irish Free State Wednesday, succeeding Timothy Healy.

Driving to Euston station with the armed guards, McNeill boarded a train for Holyhead. Other detectives were aboard the train, thus giving credence to the report that he goes to his new post with the threat of assassination lurking over his head.

Commenting on the discovery of a plot by Dublin police, who notified Scotland Yard.

In support of the theory of a plot several sensational attacks on Dublin officials the last few days were cited.

Wesley Gross of Memphis, Tenn., was fired upon and wounded as he was leaving the prison.

Detective Sean Harling was shot at Saturday night while walking along Harty road, Dublin. He informed the police before the body of a young man named Timothy Coughlan was found in the street. Windle he was one of Harling's assailants on a chance victim of the firing has not been determined.

The Express says that leaflets distributed in Ireland show the "Invincibles" who murdered Lord Lieutenant Cavendish and Under Secretary Burke in 1882 still have followers. The leaflet under the heading "Who Were the Invincibles?" reads:

"The National Invincibles were the men of 1882 who struck a blow for Ireland by executing two of Ireland's chief officials on the day the Britannic majesty's representative took office as the vice regal lodge at Phoenix Park.

"Their object was the freedom of Ireland. Their policy was to deprive England of the chiefs of her executive machine that shot at the British connection.

"Irishmen of today! The British connection still exists. We will yet break one link to that connection by giving his Britannic majesty's representative the reception he deserves.

"A nation which submits to such indignities does not deserve to be free.

Dog Going on Stage in Fight to Escape Death Sentence

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 30 (I.N.S.).—"Kaiser Bill" is going into vaudeville.

"Kaiser Bill" is a three-year-old German police dog recently condemned to death for sheep killing.

"Kaiser Bill's" master, Henry Gay, expects the earnings of a theatrical tour will enable him to carry the fight for his dog's life into the State Supreme Court, and the United States Supreme Court if necessary.

The dog was condemned in a lower court and Gay carried the case before a circuit judge.

The latter ruled his court had no jurisdiction.

500-LB. SAFE IS TAKEN BY THUGS

Providence, Jan. 30 (I.N.S.).—Burglars today made a clean getaway with a 500-pound safe, containing $1,100 in cash and non-negotiable securities valued at $2,000, from the office of the Samson Automobile Accessory Company here.

The loot was discovered by a policeman who found the door to the office ajar. Three suspects were held by the police.

Many good Used Cars given sale a few hundred miles are offered every day in Boston American Classified Ads. See Classification 150.

2 MILLION LOSS AT VILLANOVA FIRE; 13 HURT

Philadelphia, Jan. 29 (I.N.S.).—Students returning to Villanova College today found College Hall, the main building of their alma mater, a mass of blackened debris from a fire during the night that caused $2,000,000 damage to the suburban institution.

Thirteen persons, including five students and eight firemen of sixteen suburban and near Philadelphia fire companies called to the blaze, were injured in the attempt to save the buildings.

The fire broke out at 6 p. m. and burned until after midnight.

Priests and students rescued valuables from the Church of St. Thomas adjoining College Hall.

Confined to his bed by rheumatism, Christopher Lobes, 18, of Springfield, Pa., captain of the basketball team and custodian of the baseball team, was carried from his room by fellow students.

FORT HANCOCK QUARTERS OUT OF REPAIR

New York, Jan. 29—Housing conditions at Fort Hancock, one of the most important coast artillery posts in the country, constituting with Fort Tilden, on the opposite shore the ground defenses of New York City, were found by the investigating committee, headed by Congressman Loring M. Black, Jr., to be a state of neglect due to insufficient funds for repairs and upkeep.

The committee found unused Sen. Charles P. Summerall's order that Army posts should be attractive are not in many places.

Most of the buildings, the reservation, permanent structures, essentially built of brick and stone, were unattractive, the committee found, greatly in need of repairs. The heating, plumbing and sanitary equipment in the officers' quarters, more than twenty-five years old and is rapidly corroding and going to ruin.

SHACKS REMAIN

There are also approximately twenty-five or more shacks remaining on the reservation. The committee found these structures should be the same as that of similar structures at other army posts when the metropolitan area was not such a gloomy, insanitary, tired spot, unfit for human habitation.

The committee, with Congressman Black, Congressman John J. Boylan and W. J. D. Bankson also received at Fort Hamilton Col. Godwin Ordway, post commandant and chief of the New York harbor defenses.

Colonel Ordway showed the committee every courtesy and facilitated in every way the inspection of all the buildings and grounds.

The total population of the post, including women and children, is approximately 1,000 persons.

The committee found housing shortage to be as acute at Fort Hancock as at the other posts investigated. Non-commissioned officers entitled to separate quarters were found to be forced to live in rundown, worn-out houses, with broken porches, leaky roofs, inadequate heating and rubble draining away. Work Every Day.

Every day in the week, except Sunday, the committee's investigations in this way.

"Fort Hancock has fairly good permanent buildings if they were kept in a proper state of repair. Repairs must be done promptly if the buildings are to be saved. Either that or tear them down. Unless there is prompt repair work done and continuous upkeep the structures will go to ruin

RECREATION LACKING

"There should be more opportunity for social life at the post. That there might as well be at the North Pole. A first class social centre is badly needed. It would improve discipline among the men. The location of the post is of a lonely, dreary spot out at Sandy Hook where the men are cut off from the social attractions of the city. This should be remedied at once.

"The plumbing and heating at the post are bad. The wartime structures are unfit to live in and should be removed. The officers' quarters are only in a fair condition. They are badly in need of repairs. The officers and enlisted men are not getting enough of."

The post roads are also in a bad condition due to lack of funds. The post wharf, one mile long, on the New York land supplies, is slowly rotting away.

Tomorrow's article will review conditions at Fort Tilden.

PRIESTS AT FUNERAL OF REV. CORNELIUS RIORDAN

The funeral of Rev. Cornelius J. Riordan, pastor of the Church of the Immaculate Conception at Jamaica Plain for 15 years, took place in that church today.

Solemn mass of requiem was celebrated by the Rev. John B. Holland, pastor of the Church of the Sacred Heart, Revere, assisted by the Rev. James Flannery of St. Stephen's Church, Franklinville, and the Rev. John J. Nolan of St. Bridget's Church, Abington, as subdeacon.

The eulogy was delivered by Fr. Lyons, and music was furnished by the priests' choir, directed by the Rev. Walter J. Lundie of the Church of Heaven Church, South Boston. There was a large attendance of priests. The body was taken to the former home of Fr. Riordan in Lowell.

MEXICAN REBEL LEADER AND AIDES SURRENDER

Mexico City, Jan. 30 (A.P.)—Dispatches from Orizaba, State of Vera Cruz, say that Federal General Rodolfo Lozada, who headed a large group of rebels operating in the Orizaba Mountain for several months, has surrendered with several aides.

El Universal said today eighteen Federal soldiers and a number of rebels were killed in battle Friday in the mountains in the State of Michoacan. Six hundred rebels under Librado Gallion and Fermin Gutierrez clashed with about twice that number of Federal soldiers.

Los Angeles, Jan. 29—The appointment of Max Reisner as director of Paramount-Famous-Player-Lasky productions at Ellen Mc Last August, Frank R. Glynn of the Boston Evening American, was awarded with a silver medal by the Massachusetts Humane Society.

Presentation was made by Ellery H. Clark, secretary of the society, at the weekly meeting of the executive board of the Massachusetts Civic League at the Hotel Bellevue. Mr. Glynn, who is advertising manager of the domestic science department of the Hovey company, is a member of the Civic League.

The rescue, in which Glynn saved the life of Miss Josephine Perry of Dedham, occurred at a time when he was home from the wars, recently returned to an automobile, and was confined to his bed with rheumatism in his right arm.

Learning his bandage, Glynn dived into the river, and although unable to use his right arm to any extent, succeeded in reaching the young girl and taking her to shore.

The rescue was called to the attention of the Humane Society by which a suitable aim its distinguished member, Trustee D. Carmon Fenno, and Postmaster Peter F. Tague of the meeting today. Glynn was married and has a son, No. 38 Augustus avenue, Roslindale.

BROOKLINE CHAIRMAN OF REGISTRARS DEAD

The town of Brookline today mourned the death of Jesse B. Wiley, chairman of the registrars of voters, who died in his 71st year at his home, No. 117 Gardner road, Brookline. Wiley was register 25 years and held the chairmanship for 15 years. He is survived by a daughter, Miss Margaret Wiley. Funeral arrangements are being made by Undertaker Peter F. Tague. Funeral in the meeting today. Glynn was married and has a son, No. 38 Augustus avenue, Roslindale.

$30,000,000 THEATRE DEAL IS NOT OFF, SAYS POLI

New Haven, Ct., Jan. 30 (A.P.)—Denial that the deal had fallen through whereby Max Steuerman of Boston was to take over the theatrical interests of Sylvester Z. Poli of Hartford was made by Mr. Poli this afternoon at 3. "We have until Wednesday to do business." The deal, it was said, involves something like $30,000,000, the exact figure not having been given out. Meanwhile, it is understood Loew has an option on the Poli circuit for $30,000,000.

Mr. Poli for over five years has owned the American Art Association of Madison avenue and 57th streets, N. Y. City. The loss by fire of his pictures was a considerable turnover of about $300,000 and $200,000 of paintings.

BISHOP BUYS ANDERSON ART GALLERIES IN N. Y.

Plainfield, Jan. 30—(A.P.)—Curtis Hidd Page, Bishop of Lowell, Mass., has purchased the Anderson Galleries at Park place and 56th street, New York.

Bishop for over five years has owned the American Art Association of Madison avenue and 57th streets, N. Y. City. The loss by fire of his pictures was a considerable turnover of about $300,000 and $200,000 of paintings.

FUGITIVE IS CAPTURED AS HE DINES WITH OFFICER

Westfield, Jan. 30.—John Dean, who escaped from the Hampden county jail at North Hadley last Friday night, was recaptured today in a lunch room by a policeman who became suspicious of his bicycle and the prison gray color of his trouser legs showing beneath his overcoat.

Admitting his identity, Dean said he spent two days in the woods and then decided to try to reach Albany.

MEXICO'S BLOW AT U. S. FAILS AT HAVANA

Havana, Jan. 29.—Mexico's proposal to leave out the United States secretary of State as president of the governing board of the Pan-American union was rejected today when it received only the support of Mexico's delegation out of 21 members at a meeting of the first commission.

Mexico had proposed a reform providing for the election of the international order of the States. Before the vote was taken Charles Evans Hughes, chairman of the United States delegation, spoke, stating in part:

"The American people want relations based upon true fellowship and understanding, that there is a community of interest between the peoples of all the republics. The United States does not seek any seat of conference.

In accordance with an amendment approved by the commission on communications all the nations of the world will be permitted to become signatories to the Pan-American commercial aviation treaty. Non-American States would thus be permitted to make flights and establish transatlantic airlines under standard conditions.

Whether the Pan-American Union should continue its present non-political character or assume the role of arbitrator in American disputes was before the conference today.

Proposals from Cuba, Salvador and Colombia aimed at the establishment by one means or another of the Union as the harmonizer of discord among the Latin republics, despite the policy of the United States against any proposal giving political significance to the Union.

The United States delegates, it was stated, do not oppose any reasonable change in the organic structure of the Union so long as they do not affect the non-political character of the body.

Two vital subjects facing the conference will be discussed in committee Tuesday. These are definition of the fundamental basis of international law, including the right of intervention by one state in the internal affairs of another, and the laws defining rights and duties of wartime.

Recognition of occasions on which intervention might be justified is understood to be incorporated in the report of Dr. Victor Maurtua, of Peru, which will be presented to the committee on public international law. Dr. Maurtua deplores intervention as a general rule, but does not condemn it unqualifiedly.

Fort Hancock has truly good permanent buildings if they were kept in proper late of repair. Repairs must be done promptly or the buildings are to be saved. Either it is or them can be. Less there be present repair work done and nothing upkept the structures will go to ruin.

RECREATION LACKING

There should be in the repairments for soldiers at the fort. That the troops as well be at the North Fort. A good class social center which would be a big improvement among the men. The location of the post is a lonely, dreary spot and Smith Hook where it now stands is all from the social attractions of the city. His should be put. I last once.

"The planning and building of the post are bad. Its wartime structures are out of date and should be torn up. The Fort's quarters are only used two months from June. They are locked and empty the officers and enlisted men are not taken up per cent of the [illegible]

They Teach Brides

The way to coffee delights

THE NIAGARA, Niagara Falls

AT Niagara Falls—overlooking the Falls stands a beautiful hotel. Brides come there by the thousands. The manager is C. E. Hoshal. One thing he features to the newlyweds is exquisite coffee. And many a bride goes home resolved to serve it on her table. That coffee is La Touraine.

People who patronize fine hotels find that coffee often. They find it also on extra-fare trains, in famous inns and tea rooms, in country homes they visit. The best chefs in America, more and more, are serving La Touraine. But teaching brides how to serve a super-coffee, as they do at The Niagara, is a very different matter.

The way to learn the finest coffee is to ask the experts in hotels. They know that coffee counts for much, so they test many blends. It is not a matter of cost or favor, but delight to guests.

Ask the name of the coffee when you find a blend you would love to serve at home. In a great number of the finest places you visit, the answer will be La Touraine.

Then you will find that your grocer has it, and without an extra price. It is always at your command.

Remember that one coffee is three times as good as another. All depends on the blend. Why not let experts select it—the experts who decide for hotels? You might as well have the best.

Why they use La Touraine Coffee

Because it holds the top place in New England, the birthplace of fine coffees.

Because experts, tested by the most discriminating critics, have produced 220 years of coffee development.

Because the four finest coffees that grow are combined in this blend. Each one is from a different country, each is the pick of its nation. Three of them are more than 100 years old. One is so rare that it is served only in the Imperial Palace of Abyssinia. All are grown in high altitudes.

Because the blend is unique and secret. No other blend resembles it. Experts, in two centuries, have failed to duplicate it.

Because F. J. Butler, the noted coffee expert, personally selects every coffee in this blend.

Because this supreme quality costs no more than other high-grade coffees.

FRESH EGGS ARE USED
in making this new marshmallow creme

For the smoothest, whitest marshmallow cream fresh egg white is important. Often egg albumen is used instead. Every day at the Campfire kitchens the whites of fresh, selected eggs are delivered for the following day's supply of Campfire Marshmallow Creme. Due to its special blending this marshmallow cream retains a creamy, even consistency, that does not shrink or toughen.

You can get a 12-oz. can for 25c. It is ideal for cold cookery; sandwiches, cakes and pies with peanut butter or jam; for uncooked cake fillings and frostings; for home-made milk shakes and sundaes. Keep a supply on hand. Campfire Marshmallow Creme will not ferment. The Campfire Corporation, Cambridge, Mass.; Milwaukee, Wis.; San Francisco, Cal.; Montreal, Can.

WHY POOR GASOLINE AND MOTOR OIL RUIN YOUR ENGINE IN COLD WEATHER

THE 3,000,000 motorists in New York and New England can save themselves several million dollars by standardizing on Socony Gasoline and Motor Oil in cold weather.

The facts are very simple:

To start in cold weather, you pull out the choke and flood your engine.

If your oil is poor, every moving part of the engine is gummed up and turns over slowly. Socony Motor Oil is put through a final process in the refinery which presses out the extra paraffin and gives the oil a "low cold test."

If your gasoline is poor, it ignites slowly. The extra gasoline leaks down into your crank case and dilutes the oil. Hence, poor lubrication, wear, destruction and repair bills.

So neither good gasoline alone, nor good oil alone, is sufficient in cold weather. You must have both.

We have been refining for fifty-four years. We test our product thirteen times before it reaches your engine. This insures uniformity of quality at all times and wherever you may buy it. Standardize on Socony Gasoline and Motor Oil this winter and save yourself a lot of money in repair bills next spring.

You are cordially invited to use our Socony Touring Service

WHEN you are planning motor trips, Socony Road Maps will be useful. You can get them at almost every Socony pump. In addition, the Socony Touring Service is constantly collecting reliable data on roads.

This information is gladly placed at the disposal of motorists in New York State and New England. Don't fail to call on the Socony Touring Service, located at 26 Broadway, New York City. It can help you.

HEAVIES BATTLE AT ARENA

Touchstone Slight Favorite Over Schaaf in Suffolk A. A. Feature Tonight

By JACK CONWAY

BENNY TOUCHSTONE and Ernie Schaaf, two class of the younger crop of heavyweights, are expected to furnish one of the most torrid battles of the indoor season when they clash in a ten-round bout at a Suffolk A. A. show at the New Boston Arena tonight.

It should be a battle royal for supremacy between two strapping muscular men of whom are eager to take the measure.

Touchstone has invested a 10 to 9 bet in the fighting belief that he was generally credited with having had a slight margin in his favor in their last meeting with Schaaf, which was officially declared a draw.

Schaaf has done some of his best boxing in Boston ringside. Only a few weeks ago he upset King Solomon at the Arena. Previous to that the erstwhile Okonite star took a decision from Tuffy Griffiths.

Jack Conway

While Schaaf has been gaining [illegible] Touchstone has been fighting on his own at Madison Square Garden. Five times within the past four months this powerful Youngster has trotted the fairs at Tex Rickard's home of fistiana.

The youthful Touchstone is one of the few dev[illegible] heavyweights of prominence since the days of Joe Grim[illegible]. His accurate[illegible] and hitting power have been the chief factors in his success.

TONIGHT'S mixup will bring together a couple of experienced men. Touchstone got his start while in the army, while Schaaf came out of Detroit to try them on the big time.

Touchstone is 22 years of age, Schaaf 19, so it seems that both will have their fistic careers ahead of them.

Of the first four of the lightweights, Jack Delaney is [illegible] carrying [illegible] Jimmy Maloney is [illegible] improvement [illegible] Dempsey. Both are in their prime and [illegible] the crest of their fighting form.

Hidden!

In a shoe that eases the pain

Naturally no woman wants to proclaim the fact that she has an enlarged joint. There is no need for her to do so.

Coward produced this oxford which hides the Enlarged Joint in a soft inbuilt pocket of varying size. Just where the ordinary shoe irritates the joint and causes it to grow larger, this oxford soothes and helps to prevent it from becoming a bunion.

It's quite a feminine shoe, too, as you can tell by the illustration. We have it in black or tan kid with pretty mat inserts, in your size and your width.

CONGRESSMAN FRISBY CALLS OUT MARINE!
Says the Hon. Mr. Wiley!
"The trouble with prohibition is that there's too much trouble with it."

If you see this man wearing a pinch-back suit, try to get him to follow you to the police station for questioning.

WASHINGTON—Congressman Frisby today called at the White House and requested that a detachment of United States marines be sent to Erie, Pa.

When asked to explain the reason for his request, Frisby became angry and kicked over a chair. It was with difficulty that attaches quieted Congressman Frisby and finally prevailed upon him to have a cup of tea.

Later he explained his action in a 2,000-word statement.

It seems that Frisby had received word from Erie that a waitress in that city fainted when a customer smiled. On inquiring conditions were, according to U. S. Weekly, the waitress said she was sure that the customer was wearing the mysteriously missing Frisby false teeth.

The suspect wore a dark, sack coat, with a pinch-back and slash pockets. His hair was combed.

Frisby, on hearing of the incident from Weekly, was furious and announced that when the customer is apprehended he will give him a good barb-hitting.

FAMOUS LAST WORDS
Are you crazy, Mr. Remus?

MEDBURY SAYS--- By John P. Medbury

ACCORDING to a well known banker, there are too many misers in this country. A miser is a man who knows his models in a sock so much that the Indian can't get any fresh air.

THE moths are eating all the fur off the buffalo.

ONE fellow is so stingy he wouldn't spend another man's quarter.

HE tried to make some cereal the other morning by boiling the wheel on the back of the clock.

HE took all his fifty cent pieces to a trade-mart and had him clip the eagle's wings.

MONEY may talk, but his change is tongue-tied.

ONE guy was so thrifty he tried to buy a two cent stamp on the instalment plan.

HE never writes letters. He always telephones so that he can never see the charges.

HE refused to purchase an automobile. He does all his touring on escalators.

HE always thinks twice before he spends a dime, and then never spends it.

HE'S begged his wife not to wear such a long face. He says it takes too much cold cream.

HE wants to have it lifted so that it will be harder to reach.

GASOLINE went up last week and he threw away his cigar lighter.

THE poor fellow is crosseyed from reading newspapers over people's shoulders.

HE knows German, French, English and Italian currency. He's tight in five languages.

HE'S the kind of a guy who'd put stop-lights on guest towels.

THE average miser will keep his money under his pillow and then stay awake and worry about the interest.

New Strength for Weak People

If you are weak and languid, just take a teaspoonful of Tanlac three times a day before meals. This reliable old medicine helps the stomach to digest food and turn it into real strength. Soon you gain in weight, vigor and endurance, and eat and sleep as you used to.

Mr. Stephen Vitale of 157 Sorinocille Ave., Meriden, Conn., says: "I was a weak, thin, puny boy and grew up to manhood in that condition. But Tanlac fixed me up. It increased my appetite and made my stomach all over so I could digest everything. I gained 25 lbs."

Tanlac is a wonderful medicine for weak, nervous people afflicted with stomach trouble, dizzy spells and nausea and aches and pains; for people who get always drowsy and tire easily. A dose costs you less than 2 cents. The first bottle has brought improvement to thousands.

Tanlac is a good pure medicine. It contains safe, scientific vegetable ingredients of roots, barks and herbs that are recognized by the United States Pharmacopoeia. Get it from your druggist and begin to take it right away. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

THE MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE

By HELEN ROWLAND

MARRIAGE is becoming a sun at top-speed—divorce, the walk back home. But, if treated tenderly and handled with self-restraint, a good average matrimony, a good average husband, and a good average car will last a long time.

Remember that a flat tire can be pumped up again, but a woman's faith and a man's illusions, once punctured, can never be restored—even with hot-air.

Crowd your rivals with care; but never take ANY woman's dust, if you can pass her without a smash-up. The world is full of love-pirates who have no regard for the rules of the road—or the game.

There are times to park your car and admire the moonlight—and times to step on the accelerator. Success in winning and taming a man consists in knowing instinctively when to do either.

* * *

Go slow around th curves and don't cut the corners, when tempted to do so your wife. Remember that a woman who loves you can see through the curtains of your automobile, even when you keep the blind down. She can see through ANYTHING!

* * *

Never try to pass a trolley car after you have caught up with it, or taunt a man with "I-told-you-so," after you have proved your point. What's the use of being foolhardy?

* * *

When your wife discovers that the unaccustomed fragrance on your lapel is the same brand that she gave your stenographer for Christmas, use your emergency—but don't burn your brakes. Always carry a "spare" in case the old alibis go flat at the critical moment.

* * *

Keep your mother closed at all times, and don't spare the old OIL, if you value your car, or a man's devotion.

* * *

Never listen for the KNOCKS. When your car or your husband is "running smooth and pretty," let them alone—and be thankful!

* * *

Don't stop to admire the feminine scenery on a skiddy road. And remember that a sentimental detour is always dangerous, usually rough going, and never worth the wear and tear on the tires—the nerves.

* * *

If you happen to have drawn only a little Plover in the matrimonial market, be satisfied. After all, so may be much more useful and a lot easier to "control" than your neighbor's speedy Hispano.

* * *

Remember that the main idea in the journey of matrimony is not speed, but endurance, comfort and a little diversion and happiness along the way. Go slow, keep your head, watch the signals—and obey the traffic regulations! Marriage is a long, steep climb; don't try to take it "on high."

FARRELL TELLS OF STEEL'S RECOVERY

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—James A. Farrell, chief executive of the United States Steel Corporation, tells me that the steel industry has taken on a new lease of life in almost every department and during the last half of this year.

A modest advance in prices, about $2 a ton for steel products and 10 cents a ton for pig iron, has been made possible because, first, the industry was operating on an utterly unprofitable basis, and, second, improvement in demand has set in.

B. C. Forbes

This is distinctly encouraging news, not only in itself, but because it reflects quickening of activity in many lines of industry into which steel enters.

Mr. Farrell is noted for the soundness and conservatism of his statements. He is not a perpetual spouter of sunshine. He believes that it is best in the long run to stick not only to the truth but to all the truth.

So unanimous have steel profits been for some times, due to lack of production, that even Charles M. Schwab, who frankly declares, "Everybody knows I always am an optimist," has been emphasizing the need for improving the return on the billions of capital invested in steel plants and properties.

The moderate recovery in steel prices is therefore to be welcomed as a desirable economic development. No responsible steel magnate has been anxious to see wages reduced, a step which has been resorted to by other industries.

"The cheapest thing in the modern scheme of things is the money served Mr. Farrell. "And by far the biggest item in the cost of steel is wages. Notwithstanding higher raw materials which enter into steelmaking, and notwithstanding the high transportation rates, the main determining factor in the final cost is labor. Yet, in face of the tremendous rise in the price of practically all raw materials and the doubling of wages in recent years, steel is selling today at 2 cents a pound or a trifle less."

Discussing the latest developments, Mr. Farrell said:

"There has been substantial improvement in demand for steel. It set in last October and has already been reflected in the increase in production from 65 per cent, to better than 80 per cent. of capacity today.

"While the heavier products have advanced about $2 a ton since October, and pig iron has advanced about 50 cents a ton, which is a fairly relative advance.

"It had become absolutely necessary to secure better prices in order that the steel companies should live and be able to earn anything like a reasonable return to investors."

"What sources has the better demand come from?" I asked.

"Construction is keeping up remarkably well—the buildings, railway stations, commercial buildings, etc.," replied Mr. Farrell.

"There has been some increase in ordering by automobile manufacturers, but the threads are ordering in larger quantities, especially for new freight cars, as well as for passenger cars. Oil demand is fairly good for tankage and also for pipe lines.

"The natural improvement is showing remarkably. Decidedly heavy demand has come from this source from pipe lines being laid from Texas to Denver, has called for almost one hundred thousand tons. Other pipe lines contemplated include one from Shreveport, La., to St. Louis, and another from Louisiana to Kansas City.

"Tin plate business promises to be very good, as the canning industry was curtailed to some extent by small crops in certain places last year. The indications are that larger acreage will be planted this year and a larger business done.

"Agricultural implement buying is running 10 per cent. better than last year.

"Altogether, we are looking forward to good business during the first half of this year."

Coming from so authoritative and conservative source, the foregoing announcements should have a very beneficial effect upon business sentiment throughout the country.

One gathers in talking with James A. Farrell, the ex-laborer who at 47 became president of the billion dollar Steel Corporation and who recently succeeded Judge Gary as the chief executive officer, that he has infinite faith in the industry to which he has given his life. Jim Farrell is a solid, matter-of-fact citizen who feels safer in being connected with a concern which makes steel than if he were identified with any of the so-called "luxury" industries. Farrell knows how and to what popularity, but steel, like Tennyson's brook, goes on forever. Therefore, Farrell, unlike Cecil Rhodes, believes when he was "President of the United States," "I like my job."

May I add that there is no foundation whatever for the rumor that Judge Gary is ill? Mr. Steel stock dividend or anything else of the kind.

NEW YORK STOCKS

88 MILLION FOR NAVAL PLANES

Washington, Jan. 30 (I.N.S.).—The Navy bill will require 1400 new airplanes, costing $88,213,067, to equip the five aircraft carriers and 25 new cruisers included in the eight-year Navy building program now before Congress, Rear-Admiral William A. Moffett told the House Naval Affairs Committee today.

The cost represents the expenditures required to build and maintain the aircraft, Moffett said, but does not include the pay of additional men required to operate this great fleet of planes.

The planes will cost $60,675,100, he said, while maintenance and replacements over the period will cost $27,537,967. Moffett said 670 additional naval aviators, 290 pilots and 1,980 enlisted men would be required.

The Moffett program be in addition to the 1,000 planes specified under the five-year program already laid down by Congress.

PROSECUTE DRIVING CLUB AS A GAMBLING RESORT

Nashua, N. H., Jan. 30 (A.P.).—Chief Irving C. Goodwin, asking for a continuance in the trial of charges brought against President Paul Dube, Secretary-Treasurer Orlando Hamlin and two others, alleging the Nashua Driving Club, raided Saturday, was a gambling resort, announced he had summoned Attorney General Jeremy Waldron of Concord to prosecute the case.

Fittings of the club seized by the police were taken from the police station on a writ of replevin served by Deputy Sheriff J. B. Hallisey over strenuous objection of the chief, who told the deputy he would ask for contempt proceedings as the property was in the court's possession as material evidence.

Both Dube and Hamlin entered pleas of not guilty to the charges of conducting a gambling resort.

BITES OFF MAN'S LIP TO SETTLE ARGUMENT

Reverting to the primitive to settle an argument, John Flimura of North Margin street bit off the lower lip of Antonio Morello of South Margin street, according to testimony in Municipal Court today.

It was the first case of its kind in the history of the Municipal Court, and there was some question as to whether Flimura should be charged with mayhem or not. It was eventually decided to leave that matter to the final Jury and Flimura was asked to plead to assault and battery. Owing to the latter's absence will be in the hospital some time, the case was continued to February 7, bonds of $2,000 being fixed.

VICTIM CALLS BLUFF OF BANDIT WITH TOY GUN

Newport, R. I., Jan. 30 (A.P.).—Orlando E. Pearce, 20, of Tiverton, R. I., confessed to an attempted highway robbery January 17 in that town, according to the State police. Pearce arraigned him here this morning.

Pearson was masked and held up Clark Brown of Tiverton, because of using a revolver, Pearce had a cigarette holder that resembled an automatic. The attempted robbery failed, according to the police, when Brown refused to hand money and defied the would-be robber to shoot. Pearce was traced by his foot prints. He pleaded not guilty today and was held for the Grand Jury.

WARMER IN PORTLAND, ME., THAN IN WASHINGTON

Portland, Me., Jan. 30 (A.P.).—It was colder in Washington, D. C., than it was in Portland this morning, weather bureau records showed. The temperature fell to 9 degrees at 8 o'clock, its lowest point for the past twenty-four hours, while it was no degree lower in the national capital at the same hour.

Zero weather in Maine was generally light, except over the extreme eastern coast section, Eastport reporting almost five inches.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED IN TRAYMORE $700 THEFT

On a promise that he would make restitution, Edward Walsh of West Tremlett street, Dorchester, today was given a suspended sentence of thirty days in the House of Correction when he appeared in Municipal Court. Charged originally with larceny of $700 from the Traymore Cafeteria, Harvard square, Brookline, according to the police, occurred January 16 when Walsh was sent to draw payroll money and failed to return.

MISS MILLER TO JILT RAJAH?

Bombay, Jan. 29 (I.N.S.).—Miss Nancy Ann Miller of Beverly Walk, she quoted by the Empire News today as saying she had changed her mind and would not marry Jubedran Holker, former Maharajah of Indore.

Miss Miller was quoted as saying: "As the ex-Maharajah's wife I feel that I would be a millstone around his neck. Our marriage would add to the difficulties of those who are working for his restoration."

This statement, purporting to come from Miss Miller, that she would not marry the former Maharajah of Indore was a surprising development. Bombay dispatches have stated that both the ex-Maharajah and Miss Miller were making final preparations for their wedding.

SOUTHBRIDGE CUTLERY FACTORY IS MERGED

Worcester, Jan. 30 (A.P.).—Purchase of the Stephen Richard Company, Inc., of Southbridge, by the Parker Wire Goods Company of this city, was announced today by officials of the wire goods company. The manufacturing plant will be continued in Southbridge, while Irving Cole, retiring president of the Richard company, announced he had summoned Attorney General Jeremy Waldron of Concord to prosecute the case.

Fittings of the club seized by the police were taken from the police station on a writ of replevin served by Deputy Sheriff J. B. Hallisey over strenuous objection of the chief, who told the deputy he would ask for contempt proceedings as the property was in the court's possession as material evidence.

Both Dube and Hamlin entered pleas of not guilty to the charges of conducting a gambling resort.

"One More Soul Is Redeemed"; Walker on the Wagon

Washington, Jan. 30 (I.N.S.)—Mayor "Jimmie" Walker's decision to go on the water wagon was hailed today by prohibition officials as a triumph for the dry cause.

"One more soul has been redeemed," said Seymour Lowman, enforcement director. "This is really the outstanding event of my administration as prohibition director.

"It makes up for all the trials and tribulations I have experienced in office."

allow himself to be bound by any resolution or limitation approved by the Latin republics—not even if they should agree unanimously.

The United States must make and carry out its own plans, and at most, can listen, sympathetically, to what the smaller American republics have to say, without permitting them to make rules controlling the United States, or in any way limiting its rights. That is the fact and might as well be put plainly.

* * *

The Prince of Wales, hopefully discussing trade revival, wonders whether human beings invented earrings or trousers first. Man's passion for adornment, he thought, probably produced earrings before clothes.

He is right about that. Darwin tells of Patagonian ladies, living in a climate often freezing, that would not think of coming from their huts to let a stranger see them, until they had painted their faces, and arranged their hair. But they did come out without one stitch of clothing.

A British publication, by the way, owns a pearl earring taken from the ear of King Charles the First, after his head had been cut off.

Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, celebrates his sixty-seventh birthday, saying: "I refuse to be more than fifty years old."

In less than five hundred years, fifty will be really young—the thousand-year mark will be seventy-five will be the prime of life.

The natural life of man would be one hundred and forty if he understood the machine in which he lives, and took care of himself.

Other animals live ten times the age at which they mature, physically, and men should do the same.

Our troubles will come, in America, when our natural resources are exhausted—coal, oil, iron, forests, etc.

At present we are busy using, wasting. Some day we may be busy regretting. Emil Kelch, sent to Sweden by Herbert Hoover's Department of Commerce, reports that Sweden has solved her forest problem.

The annual growth of timber in Sweden exceeds the annual cutting by 3,000,000 cubic feet, or twelve hundred million lineal feet.

* * *

No nation can avoid exhaustion of oil, coal and iron, in the long run. But forests, supplying heat, houses, and wood alcohol for engines, could keep civilization going.

* * *

Our best hope is in the ability of science to find something better, when one thing goes—kerosene in place of whale oil, electric light in place of oil. Power of sun, tides, the earth's interior heat, perhaps to replace coal and oil.

COSGRAVE ON AIR AGAIN WEDNESDAY

Speeches by William T. Cosgrave, President of the Council of the Irish Free State, Mayor James J. Walker and Grover Whalen, chairman of the Mayor's committee on reception, delivered at the city's banquet to President Cosgrave Wednesday evening, February 1, in the Hotel Biltmore, will be broadcast by the National Broadcasting Company through stations associated with its Blue Network, beginning at 9 o'clock, Eastern standard time.

The program at the dinner will be heard through WNYC and WJZ, New York, and other stations to be announced later.

RADIO DIALOG

by

C. WILLIAM RADOS

SUNDAY afternoon a S O S shut down Boston broadcasters for varying periods of time. Coming at 2:30 p. m. and lasting for more than an hour, it did not interrupt the more important parts of Sunday programs, excepting those artists and sponsors who are caught by an S O S. The loss is tragic to them.

E. F. A. announced around WEEI yesterday, janitored the studios, went out for a stretch, and, in general, tried to keep busy when all the broadcasts were coming from New York. Sunday afternoon radio seems lifeless for some reason, or is it merely a personal feeling? Anyhow Bowles has no jazz Sundays.

The Ipana Troubadours, who broadcast Wednesdays, write us saying they will start February with a new line-up of stations. The latest addition is KPRC Houston, Texas the place where Democrats and Oscar W. Underwood were coming from for Alabama. It's a good thing Houston will have an opportunity, for right along the Democrats start advertising down there. Evidently they believe Southerners only need to read the ads to vote for Democrats. What other construction could you put on it?

Last Saturday David Sarnoff, vice-president of the R. C. A., told a television audience that it was comparable to the present radio industry in the short period of five years. Whether it means that, if Dempsey's eyes are satisfactory, every move at a bout will be seen by radio, a presidential inauguration will then be seen by everyone who has eyes.

If television becomes as big as is predicted, some other industries will certainly lose somewhere.

When that time comes we will be able to see the sponsors and black face comedians. Still, it always will be good to hear them, for the radio broadcasters whose faces are nothing much. In fact a couple of local radio wave fares which are plain nothing.

LEAGUE OF NEIGHBORS PLANS THEATRE PARTY

At the theatre party of the League of Neighbors, Fellowship of Faiths and Union Past and Present, Monday, in the Repertory Theatre "The Dance of Life" will be presented by the Repertory Players. Between acts there will be short talks, refreshments and sociability.

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE ☆ ☆ BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN ☆ ☆ BOSTON JANUARY 30, 1928

THE BOSTON AMERICAN'S PLATFORM FOR BOSTON AND NEW ENGLAND

For BOSTON:
1—Clean streets.
2—Solution of traffic and parking problems.
3—Better pay for honest public service.
4—An airport SECOND TO NONE.
5—Erection of a MUNICIPAL AUDITORIUM to compare with any in the land, to order that Boston, properly supplied with first-class hotels, may be the premier convention city of the U. S. A.

For NEW ENGLAND:
1—Weld the six States into a unit through the activities of the New England Council, thus creating a community consciousness.
2—Promote intercourse with Central and South America, encouraging New Englanders to "turn to the sea" again.
3—Keeping everlastingly at the job of telling the rest of the country all about our unique advantages as Summer and Winter Playground of the Nation.
4—Foster the prosperity of our industries through (1) greater efficiency in production and (2) the use of modern methods in merchandising.
5—Promote in every way such natural resources as forests, water powers and fisheries.
6—Assist New England agriculture to better marketing methods.

As Others See Us

A Parisian's Concept of Boston

Someone should inform M. Arthur Lafon concerning Boston's importance as a tourist centre. Perhaps one of the young ladies in each of the New England publicity bureaus will send him "literature."

M. Lafon is a citizen, a considerably disturbed citizen, of the French capital. He has been observing with horror the altogether successful efforts of the Paris police to put the lid down on what used to be the world's most famous wide-open town.

Just before the Legion convention last Summer the gendarmes began a drive against underworld institutions and characters. It was thought these activities would cease with the departure of the legionnaires. Instead, they have persisted. Hundreds of persons have been arrested, dozens of resorts closed, in the interest of purity.

It is now complained that the police are interfering with what are termed "historic features" of the grand boulevards and that unless this feature of the clean-up is eliminated Paris after sundown will be like a village in America; there will be no more "modern Babylonia" and—no more tourists.

Lafon appears to be the leader of the Opposition; that is to say, champion of the Paris that visitors whisper about.

"After all," he says, "it is no secret that many thousands of foreigners come here to enjoy a liberty which is denied them in their own puritanical home towns.

"The day Paris resembles Boston there won't be any more tourists."

Chambers of Commerce, tourist organizations and hotel managers should enlighten this young man promptly.

The REAL Paris would receive more American visitors and garner more American dollars if it were not for the fame of the boob-taking Paris.

M. Lafon should be invited to visit us. It is disheartening to see a bright young man so poorly informed.

Humbuggery

Raiding the Whist Party While "Clearing House" Pool Tickets Are Sold by the Thousand

When someone at the State House was asked for the "law" on the subject, several months ago, it was discovered that church whist parties, under the statutes, are a species of gambling.

Whereupon in different parts of Massachusetts church whist parties were stopped by order of the police.

Your weekly "clearing house" pool tickets continued to come along as usual and you still could get a bet down on "the fight" or "the ponies," but it was no longer possible to take part in a whist for the benefit of the poor or in aid of the church debt fund.

It now appears that the law upon which certain good but narrow-minded people relied in their "anti-gambling" crusade was placed upon the book 109 years ago.

Among other citizens who have appeared at the State House to suggest that it should be amended along commonsense lines are representatives of the Girl Scouts, the State Federation of Women's Clubs, the Daughters of Vermont, the Medford Women's Club, the Political Science Club of Lynn, the G. A. R. and the Brookline Women's Club.

All they desire is that whist and bridge games and the like, conducted for charitable purposes, may not be regarded as fair game for police-raiding parties.

Can anyone object?

Earth's Biggest Bear

Descendant of the Great Cave Bear

ALASKAN BROWN BEAR, BIGGEST IN THE WORLD, KILLED FOR NATURAL HISTORY MUSEUM

The Museum of Natural History, splendidly managed, useful educational institution of New York City, sent far into the north of Alaska to get this giant bear. Soon he will be seen as lifelike as in real life in the big museum, and near him a a female bear and two cubs of the same species. This bear was shot by Van Campen Heilener, who had as his guide in the far-off Alaskan wilderness at the base of a great volcano the Rev. Father Dimitri Hotovitzky.

This giant Alaskan brown bear, biggest ever killed, is a descendant of a bear that used to interest our ancestors five hundred thousand years ago, before they had high-powered rifles, of which the bullet could "mushroom" and plough through a bear's heart.

Ancestors of this bear were the giant cave bears against which our cave-dwelling ancestors protected themselves, rolling huge rocks to the entrance of their caves. The biggest

FILM OR VAUDEVILLE IN THEATRES?

By DR. FRANK CRANE

At last the authoritative head of the United Artists' Corporation of film makers has spoken.

It is Joseph M. Schenck, who said the other day in a report made for the Film Daily Year Book that theatre managers are making a mistake in having vaudeville in connection with their moving pictures.

He said that five-thousand-seat theatres are injuring the moving picture business because it is necessary to pay so much for vaudeville that they cannot afford to pay for good pictures.

The result was a discouragement to those who would produce high-class films.

"They have not kept faith with the public," continued Mr. Schenck, "which build the theatres for motion pictures and as soon as they are forced to suspend dividends the stockholders will voice their sentiments."

This is in line with the sentiment expressed in this column sometime ago in favor of moving pictures standing on their own bottom and claiming that the movie was sufficient entertainment without the addition of vaudeville.

For those who care for vaudeville there are the vaudeville houses which exist in almost every large city.

But the moving picture houses should be reserved for moving picture fans.

These could be operated at small expense and the pictures could run longer, thus making possible the using of better films.

When moving pictures were first introduced they were shown as addenda to a vaudeville program. Of late the tendency has swung back to this custom, and those who go to see the moving picture really are made to see a lot of vaudeville in connection therewith.

Of course if the public want vaudeville and theatre managers find that it pays they should have it.

But those who are interested in the moving picture business as an art are anxious to see it placed squarely upon its own merits.

For this purpose it would doubtless be better, as Mr. Schenck suggests, to have smaller theatres, of not more than two thousand seats each, which would make the production of better films possible.

Boston DAY by DAY

IN THE lobby of the Boston Public Library two large selections of photographs have been placed. The portraits are those of some three dozen writers whose educational booklets are sold at the center desk in Bates Hall. Pierce E. Buckley, custodian, states that interest in the photographs has caused greater sales of the booklets. Home education is the aim with the booklets. They supply a guide to a selected list of books.

Director Charles Belden of the library is busily engaged in compiling material for his annual report, including the year's work of the 31 branches. More people are using the library now, and the number of books available is greater than ever. Some 10,000 students, it is estimated, use the library regularly.

When Professor Marshall Livingston Perrin leaves Boston University for a six months study in India, his place will be capably taken by a member of the Boston Schools. Chief Examiner Joel Hathway will continue Professor Perrin's classes in English and Sanskrit. For a number of years the English classes have consisted of university extension courses in pronunciation and conversation for educated foreigners. Mr. Hathway will conduct two classes in this work and two classes in elementary and advanced study of Sanskrit.

Jamaica Plain residents are dropping the "lieutenant" and calling William F. Donovan "captain" now that the mayor has promoted this lifelong resident of Jamica Plain. Captain Donovan was born in Jamaica Plain, joined the fire department twenty-eight years ago, and in 1921 received highest honors in the fire college. He lived at 26 Oakview Terrace, is married and has two children.

Dr. William H. Watters, formerly a Boston physician, and now on the staff of the Boston-Miami Clinic at Cocoanut Grove, Florida, expects to return to Boston next Summer. Dr. Watters lived on Mt. Vernon street until his departure for Florida.

In the Christmas number of "Lampoon," Harvard student comic monthly, the then proposed reading period for students was ridiculed with a cartoon showing a library occupied only by a skeleton, obviously one student who had overread, note, spleen and the like. The reading period has ended has ended this forecast—to the credit of the students. Every day the Widener Library was crowded with students who were under no compulsion to study. Extra chairs, ventilation machinery and more room was found necessary. The New Year exams will show how much the group really studied.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

I HAD a hard time breaking into this job.

It's a rather tough assignment, sitting from nine to ten hours in one spot, hitting little keys, spinning thoughts from your rebellious skull. Particularly when you're just in from the open trail, with the mountain mud still caked on your heels and the sound of the winds and waters in your ears.

For three years I had been swinging a mining pick and pan—an office chair sure cramped my style and shape. But it had to be done. And I usually finished anything I started. But, oh! man, wasn't I sorry for myself. Dusty, puffing job. There in front of me, day in, day out, was a dingy wall. I could see nothing but that wall. I hated that wall. I was the world's worst martyr.

Then one day a strange thing happened. I was reading my letters. There was nothing unusual about those letters, but there was something unusual about me that day. Suddenly I began to see something moving behind those letters. I began to look through their paper and felt as one would look through a window. As I looked I forgot the tiresome machine, the cramping chair. The walls went down and I was out on the open trail again. But this time the trail did not lead to a mining shaft or a couch house. IT LEAD INTO LIFE.

Once again there was a great sound in my ears. But it was not the sound of the wind or the water. It was the sound of HUMAN HEARTS—the whisper and the roar and the moan of all the secrets hidden in human hearts. There in that vast very was all the misery and delight of my race, the hunger, the despair, the love, the faith, the joy, the pride, the confusion, the tenderness and shy poetry of a million obscure souls.

The walls went down for me that day. They have never shut me in again, although sometimes I grow very tired of this chair and long for my mountains and my mining pan. But I'm panning something better than gold now—I'M PANNING HUMAN VALUES. And beyond each down there waits a greater adventure than ever lurked in tunnel or drift or shaft.

ALL JOBS HOLD THAT SECRET ESCAPE FROM MONOTONY IF WE WOULD BUT SEARCH FOR IT. ANYTHING THAT SERVES OTHER PEOPLE OPENS A TRAIL INTO THEIR LIVES IF YOU WILL BUT FOLLOW IT. BUT YOU CAN'T DO IT WITH YOUR WILL POWER ALONE. YOU MUST USE YOUR IMAGINATION AND YOUR HEART.

YOU MUST PUT ASIDE YOUR SELF-PITY AND YOUR RESENTMENT. YOU MUST BE WILLING TO THINK OF OTHER PEOPLE AND PITY THEM AND TAKE AN INTEREST IN THEM. YOU MUST WANT TO GET OUT IF YOU DO WANT TO GET OUT THERE'S NO COOP ON EARTH CAN HOLD YOU NOT EVEN A PRISON CELL. FOR THOUGH YOUR BODY BE ANCHORED IN A CHAIR YOUR SPIRIT SHALL ROVE ALL THE TRAILS OF THE UNIVERSE.

Earth's Biggest Bear

rock those feeble men could roll might easily be swept aside by one or two of these giant bears with frightfully powerful forelegs.

Then the SAFEST cave man was the FASTEST RUNNER. Bows and arrows, sharp flints fastened at the ends of clubs, could not do much against a giant that four bullets from a high-powered rifle could hardly stop.

These bears are hunted with a powerful field glass, through which they are seen four and five miles away. Then they are stalked, hunters selecting a spot on the hill above them, firing from that spot. The bear, courageous, will charge against the rifle, but must go more slowly up a steep hill, giving the hunter more chances to kill him.

FATHER DIMITRI HOTOVITZKY, WHO HELPED KILL THE BIG BEAR

Mr. Heilener, telling of his interesting adventures in killing brown bears, paid a high tribute to the courage of the Greek Father Dimitri, now in charge of a little far-off parish at Belkofski, at the extreme northern part of Alaska, and formerly of Newark, N. J.

Father Dimitri, when this great bear was wounded and very dangerous and had fled for safety to the brush, found the native pack bearers would not approach the brush. The priest, beckoning Mr. Heilener to follow him, went in after the bear without a moment's hesitation. And the huge monster, immediately charging at the intruders, was stopped when four more bullets entered its body.
